West Raises Arms Issue

By KINGSBURY SMITH

PARIS, March 27 (INS).—The East-West split among Big Four deputies widened almost to the breaking point tonight in an embittered session in which both sides raked up old charges.

Angered by what they termed Russian "propaganda tactics" the Western delegates accused Moscow of rearming Romania, Bulgaria and Hungary "far beyond" peace treaty limits and demanded an investigation.

For the first time Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko himself referred to the possibility that the conference would fail, although the deputies agreed to meet again tomorrow.

"We entertain serious doubt," said Gromyko, "about the real intentions of the Western powers for agreement here."

The deputies are trying to agree on an agenda for a proposed foreign ministers' conference aimed at easing European tensions.

NEW ISSUE

In beginning the fourth week of talks the deputies already were split on previous agenda suggestions. Then the Western delegates introduced the new special item on the rearming of the three Soviet satellite states.

In this demand for inclusion of a new item on a proposed agenda the American, British and French delegates also asked for an investigation of violation of human rights and policial freedom clauses by those Soviet satellites.

It was the 18th session of the Big Four deputies and no progress was made in five hours of argument.

U.S. Delegate Philip C. Jessup introduced the new Western proposal concerning the Balkan peace treaties and strongly attacked Russian postwar policy.

Jessup charged that Russia dominated the three states, rearmed them in violation of treaty limits and suppressed civil liberties.

The American delegate said that this situation provided one of the basic causes of tension in Europe today. Study of the causes of tension is one of the avowed objects of a proposed Big Four foreign ministers' conference.

MacArthur Told Not to Approach Manchurian Line

Allies Permitted to Cross Parallel "When Necessary"

WASHINGTON, March 27 (INS).—Defence Secretary George C. Marshall declared today that Gen. Douglas MacArthur has been instructed to keep the Korean fighting away from the Manchurian border and to cross the 38th Parallel only when necessary to protect his forces.

Marshall made the announcement on the heels of a military disclosure that MacArthur has been ordered to clear with the Joint Chiefs of Staff all political statements touching on Korean affairs.

The new instructions sent MacArthur represent a complete reversal of the United Nations directive passed by the General Assembly last October.

POLICY REVERSAL

It further represents a reversal of President Truman's policy as enunciated in his February 15 news conference.

Marshall disclosed that the Joint Chiefs have now instructed MacArthur to cross the 38th Parallel only to protect the security of his troops, whereas the earlier instructions were to destroy the Communist armies wherever he found them.

In making his announcement, Marshall permitted direct quotation. The secretary said:

"The question of any full advance north of the 38th Parallel is a political question as already has been stated by General MacArthur.

"The compelling factor there—the dominant instruction there—is that he will proceed in accordance with the necessities to safeguard the security of his command. That dominates his actions."

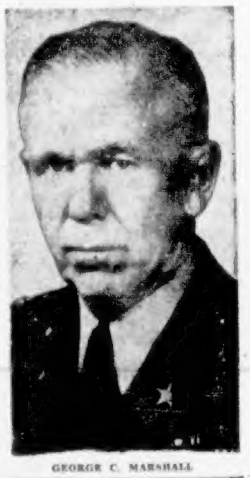

This statement differed sharply from one made by President Truman at his February 15th news conference.

At that time the President said he had no intention of interfering with General MacArthur.

Marshall's statement also differs from the stand taken by the General Assembly when it voted 47 to 5 in favor of a resolution that indirectly approved crossing the 38th Parallel.

One of the provisions of that resolution stated that stability should be restored throughout Korea by "all appropriate steps."

Allied observers in the war zone said they fail to understand the reason behind the policy of continually assuring the Chinese of what one observer described as "our unwarlike intentions."

R.O.K. Units Cross Line, Capture North Towns

TOKIO, March 28 (Wednesday) (AP).—South Korean forces have captured five towns inside North Korea on a foray, forging ahead today beyond the 38th Parallel along the Korean east coast.

Forward elements were at least six miles north of the parallel.

In the west, other Allied forces tightened a trap around three Chinese Communist battalions north of Seoul. A Red regiment was cut to pieces in the same area Tuesday.

But a hard core of enemy strength slowed progress in the peninsula's mountainous centre.

FIRST SEIZED

The main force of a South Korean division, across the 38th Parallel on the east coast, occupied Yangyang, Kapyong, Chonggok, Sorin and Youngpo in advances that began Sunday.

Yangyang, five miles north of the border, was the first large point seized. That rail and highway hub was captured Tuesday against light resistance by retreating North Koreans. The deepest point of the advance was at Chonggok, north of Yangyang.

But the main developments were in the centre of the peninsula.

Honeycombed in the rain-drenched ridges north of Chunchon and about five miles south of the prewar boundary between North and South Korea were 10,000 Reds.

Another 80,000 Communists—units of five Chinese army corps—were massed immediately north of the old boundary line.

Seven of a total of eight Allied patrols fanning north of Chunchon drew heavy Communist fire. In each case the patrols returned the fire and withdrew, reported A.P. correspondent William C. Barnard. Allied artillery then pounded at enemy defences where the patrols were fired upon.

New Offer To China Possible

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., March 27.—Diplomatic officials in London said today United Nations Governments with forces in Korea are considering a new offer to Communist China to negotiate a settlement.

The London informants said that once the United Nations forces set up a line they can hold in Korea, they could stop pursuit of the enemy and possibly break off fighting contact.

The United Nations forces would be told to stop fighting at positions which could be held just north of the 38th Parallel. The London diplomats said the lull could be used to negotiate a formal truce.

Assembly president Nasrollah Entezam of Iran, chairman of the Good Offices Committee seeking peace with Communist China, said London had not sent any such proposals to him.

Reports that the committee had sent a new peace feeler to Red China bobbed up at the United Nations again today.

Cash on Line In Hospitals

It's going to be cash on the line in Victoria hospitals.

The announcement was made simultaneously here and on the Mainland yesterday that patients in Victoria and Greater Vancouver hospitals will be asked to pay the full co-insurance charge of $35 which becomes effective Monday.

Patients will get a refund if they are not in hospital the full ten-day period stipulated by the British Columbia Hospital Insurance Service.

The move follows the decision to charge patients $2 to $3.50 a day for the first ten days of hospital care under the revised plan.

Royal Jubilee Hospital officials said "it was understood" the pay-in-advance program would go into effect following the due date.

"Easiest and simplest way to operate the plan," St. Joseph's Hospital officials said.

At Vancouver's General Hospital authorities were quoted as saying they were collecting in advance to avoid the "host of bad debts" that have been predicted under co-insurance.

Tax-Exempt Properties Total Half Assessment

By GORDON FORBES

Assessed value of properties in Victoria on which no City taxes are paid may amount to a staggering 50 per cent of the total.

This thought was thumped into City Council yesterday by Alderman Percy Scurrah. He was arguing against erection of the proposed health and welfare building on the present city-owned Pandora Avenue Health Centre site—"a valuable business property."

"If tax-exempt properties were assessed the same as other properties, the assessment would amount to about $30,000,000—half of the total taxable assessment. The recorded assessment on these properties now is more than $18,000,000, but the assessments have not been increased as others have," said Ald. Scurrah.

He assumed the assessments on tax-exempt properties were not increased over the years because there was no revenue from them anyway.

(See Other Story on Page 13)

Ald. Scurrah pointed out that Pandora Avenue soon will be an important retail street, adding that the B.C. Electric plans to erect a $500,000 office building next to the health centre site.

HALF-MILL REVENUE

"That will mean a large increase in traffic and a corresponding increase in value to the health centre property. At the present it is assessed at the low figure of $38,800. Place even $200,000 in improvements there and you have a tax revenue of more than $20,000 a year—about half a mill. May I point out that every half-mill revenue is of utmost importance to us."

He doubted if there is another city in Canada that has such a large percentage of tax-exempt property on the assessment roll.

"It is the downtown business property, because of its higher assessment, that is profitable to the City from a tax point of view. It costs little if any more to service the downtown lot than the same size lot in a residential area. However, the business property probably pays, because of its higher assessment, ten times the taxes the residential lot does," said Ald. Scurrah.

LITTLE FROM INDUSTRY

He explained that many cities enjoy a source of revenue from industrial properties, but Victoria, being essentially a residential city, has only 3.4 per cent of the total assessment coming from industry.

"In view of this, I submit that this council must of necessity make the greatest use and obtain the greatest possible revenue from the assets we have. When we are already servicing 30 per cent of our assessable property free of charge, we are in no position to be generous with any downtown property we may have at the moment. I suggest that council would be well advised to go ahead with its original plans and place the health and welfare building on the Savory estate (Cook and Pembroke)," he concluded.

Council did just that. Alderman Mrs. Margaret Christie and Robert MacMillan voted in the negative.

Cayuga Nears Pearl Harbor

SAN FRANCISCO, March 27 (AP).—The Canadian destroyer Cayuga, a veteran of the Korean war, is due to arrive Thursday at Pearl Harbor on her way to home waters.

She left Pearl Harbor last July 12 en route to Korea. She was relieved of duty March 16 by the destroyer Huron and is on her way to Esquimalt.

United States navy district headquarters in San Francisco today issued a Pearl Harbor press announcement on the Cayuga's homeward trip.

Labor, Bennett Demand That Government Resign

KELOWNA, B.C., March 27 (CP).—Widespread speculation that W. A. C. Bennett would announce the formation of a new political party drew more than 1,000 persons to a public meeting here tonight.

They didn't find the answer. But they heard the breakaway member of the British Columbia Legislature call for the resignation of the Government he supported until a few weeks ago.

(At Vancouver, organized labor launched a move to unseat British Columbia's Coalition Government.

(Fighting mad at the cabinet's refusal to implement labor's demands at the present session, Vancouver Labor Council (C.C.L.) endorsed a recommendation to institute a petition of non-support calling upon the Government to resign.

(They coupled this with a further call on all affiliated C.C.L. unions here, along with those of the Trades and Labor Council (T.L.C.-A.F.L.) and the Standard Railway Brotherhoods, to organize a mass protest meeting on hospital insurance rates.

(A meeting embracing all shop stewards will be held within two weeks to organize the campaign.)

Asked whether he planned a new party, Mr. Bennett replied he was a person who did one thing at a time.

"At the moment I am making a report to my constituents," he said. "What I do hereafter will depend upon the course of events.

"But I will say that I will make no step without taking you into my confidence and without careful consideration."

Mr. Bennett, Coalition member for South Okanagan, announced in the Legislature March 15 that he would stand as an independent from that time on.

At the time he said he had no confidence left in the Liberal-Progressive Conservative Government. He hammered at almost every Government policy and hurled his heaviest blows at the handling of B.C.'s compulsory hospital insurance.

Tonight, he continued his campaign, saying:

"Meetings such as this throughout the Province would force the Government to resign. The solution to the present Government mess is defeat of the present Government at the earliest possible moment."

Cougars Win In Overtime

PORTLAND, Ore., March 27 (AP).—A goal by Joe Medynski in a sudden death overtime period tonight gave Victoria a 5-4 victory over Portland and squared the Pacific Coast Hockey League semi-final play-off series at two-all.

Medynski rifled the winning goal into the net at 6:19 of the overtime after Fiori Goegan whipped him a pass eight feet in front of the net. (See story on page 18.)

Portland had tied the score at four-all at 19:40 of the third period.

Bypassing Minister

Central Saanich Council To Take Plea to Premier

Patience exhausted, members of the Central Saanich council decided last night to bypass the Minister of Municipalities in their efforts to gain an independent appraisal of Saanich assets.

They will seek an interview with Premier Byron Johnson.

Move was started by Councillor Ray Lamont, who said the municipality had nothing to lose by trying.

Any apathy the motion might have met was dispelled by a remark from Reeve Sydney Pickles that Saanich is rumored to be trying to "put off Central Saanich with $20,000."

"Roughly, I understand the figure should be around $150,000," Reeve Pickles said.

"That is one of the main reasons Saanich is withholding a list of the assets from us."

Referring to Councillor Willard Michell's remark concerning the election speeches in which Reeve Pickles had stated that the probable sum to be received from Saanich would be $28,000, the reeve explained he had taken the lowest possible figure supplied by the Saanich accountant.

"Lost" Dollars Returned to Owner

Four of Five Victorians Prove Honest

By RAY WORMALD

Victorians must hold some kind of record for honesty.

Four out of five of them wouldn't keep money found on the street if they possibly could send it back to its proper owner.

That's not surmise. It's a proven fact.

Saturday evening five envelopes, each containing a $1 bill, were dropped at random in downtown Victoria. Each envelope bore a three-cent stamp and was addressed to Fred McNeil, R.R. 5, Gordon Head. The envelopes were not sealed.

Inside, along with each dollar, was a note which read:

"Dear Fred: Here is the buck I owe you. Sorry I have been so long in returning it to you, but thanks again for the loan. Be seeing you soon. (Signed) Ray."

That was last Saturday night.

By Monday afternoon McNeil had received three of the envelopes. Honest finders had deposited them in mail boxes. Yesterday the fourth one was received.

ROBERT BURNES

... Added stamp, scolding ...

Only two of the envelopes contained identification of the finder.

Said a note on one: "Picked this up on Yates Street above bowling alley Saturday evening about 9 . . . unsealed with only 3-cent stamp.

"Very careless of Ray to enclose money in an unsealed letter. Adding additional stamp. Yours truly, Robert Burnes, Apt. 5, 1270 Yates Street."

Mr. Burnes asked that receipt of letter, with dollar, be acknowledged.

On another envelope was this brief note:

"Found this on View Street, so posted it. (Mrs.) B. Ridley, 105 Menzies Street.

One of the four returned envelopes was still unsealed when finally received by the "owner."

ONE STILL AROUND

One envelope, plus one dollar, is still on the loose.

We'd like to think it slipped behind the seat of a bus. Or perhaps, some absent-minded fellow has just forgotten to stick it in a mail box.

If this were true, Victoria could claim to be the most honest city in the world.

Already it has confounded the cynics in The Daily Colonist news room.

The big question now is who are the two honest persons who remain anonymous? There is a dollar waiting for each of them.

MRS. B. RIDLEY

"... Found ... posted ..."

Death Penalty Possible

Atomic Bomb Spy Trial May Go to Jury Tonight

NEW YORK, March 27 (INS).—The Government and defence wound up their cases in the atom bomb spy trial late today and the fate of the three defendants is expected to be placed in the jury's hands by tomorrow night.

The defence rested this afternoon, after two of the three defendants—Mr. and Mrs. Julius Rosenberg—had protested their innocence from the witness stand. Morton Sobell, the third defendant, did not testify.

Following summations tomorrow, Judge Kaufman is expected to charge the jury late in the day and turn the case over to them for a verdict.

Rosenberg, 33, an electrical engineer of New York City, his wife, Ethel, 35, and Sobell, 34, an electronics expert, are charged with conspiracy to commit espionage in wartime in behalf of a Soviet spy ring. If convicted, the defendants face a possible penalty of death.

ALL ABOARD

By G. E. Mortimore

LONDON—Britain's National Health system is not health insurance. It is a free health service for every civilian man, woman and child in the country.

[illegible] of the cost of the [illegible] the health service for England, Scotland and Wales in 1950-51 will be $1,393,543,200. Against this total, $124,000,000 will be paid over from the National Insurance fund.

Net cost of the health service to the taxpayers is roughly $1,200,000,000 a year.

The health service costs roughly $9 or $27 in taxes a year for every man, woman and child in the country. I don't know the number of taxpayers off-hand, but assuming there are 13,000,000, they pay an average of $81 each for the service. Excessive? Perhaps not. It is less than three times the premiums paid for hospitalization alone under the B.C. plan, but it offers about ten times more services.

Under the British plan the wealthier pay a disproportionate share in taxes, but then they a pay a disproportionate share of other government services too. Britain regards health as a necessary public service. Canada doesn't. I think Britain is right, but I won't go into that now.

Most of the people here still have the mistaken idea that the national health service is financed out of their insurance contributions. This is a hangover from the days when Britain had a contributory health insurance plan.

The first national health insurance was introduced by the Lloyd George Liberal Government in 1911. It was a very limited plan, designed only to cover family breadwinners earning less than £420 a year. It provided only the free services of a family doctor—not free hospital treatment, free teeth or free glasses.

The plan was administered through approved societies, some of which offered extra services. It existed until the new National Health Service began on July 5, 1948. Then the entire population was brought in.

* * *

National Health is not compulsory, either for doctors or patients. But 19 out of 20 of the public, nine out of ten doctirs and dentists, and nearly all specialists, pharmacists and opticians have joined it. Admittedly many doctors were forced to do so by circumstances, because most people won't pay for something they can get for nothing. But a number remain successfully outside the scheme.

Those who joined did not, on an average, lose by it. In 1938 the estimated total income of doctors in England, Scotland and Wales was £28,000,000 a year. Now National Health payments alone to about the same number of doctors total £50,000,000.

A doctor is paid a fixed fee for every patient registered for him, whether the patient becomes ill or not. He may get a basic £200 a year plus a smaller per capita fee.

A doctor with 2,000 patients get a gross £1,700 in capitation fees ($5,100) a year. A doctor with 4,000 patients (the maximum allowed in most cases) gets £3,400 ($11,200). Extra payments are made for training assistants, for supplying drugs and dressings, for mileage (rural doctors); for maternity services, eye services, hospital staff duties, vaccination and immunization.

Doctors practising before July, 1948, are given compensation for the loss of the right to sell their practices. This is paid on retirement or death, and carries 2½ per cent interest until then.

A doctor contributes six per cent of his annual receipts toward superannuation, and the Government pays eight per cent of his receipts.

There are awards for outstanding merit.

An eminent specialist on salary as a hospital consultant can earn some £5,000 ($15,000) a year.

There are inducement payments to doctors who will practise in difficult or unpopular areas. This is part of the health service plan to even out the distribution of doctors. Britain has almost enough doctors—one for every 2,200 people. But they tend to concentrate in attractive residential areas. Many parts of Canada face a similar problem. In Canada, I understand, rural areas tend to be under-doctored. In Britain it is the uglier industrial areas which lose out.

Now the country is divided in three zones: over-doctored, open and under-doctored. Medical men are allowed to start new practices in the open area, encouraged to enter the under-doctored area, forbidden to enter the over-doctored area.

* * *

A big section of medical opinion fought national health at the start, but most are now reconciled to it. Common complaints are that it destroys the old relationship between doctor and patient, rewards the plodder and the fumbler at the expense of the brilliant man, and places medical men under the control of laymen.

"Nonsense," say health service officials to the first charge. Relationship between doctor and patient remains the same, they assert. A patient is free to change doctors whenever he chooses, and no one interferes with the doctor's daily work.

The brilliant doctor can still earn plenty, though perhaps not quite as much as before. Average earnings have been brought up. Professional standards are still regulated by the profession. The Central Health Services Council and the regional executive councils have a majority of doctors.

Britain had problems which are well known in Canada: shortage of hospital space, shortage of nurses, costs rising so rapidly that hospitals had to be bailed out constantly by grants, and the average man could scarcely afford medical and hospital care.

The urgent space problem is being gradually solved—mainly by converting large buildings into hospitals. But there is a long way to go, and the war and economic crises have delayed building. Nurses' pay and working conditions have been improved, and their numbers are increasing.

Most hospitals have been taken over by the Government, and set under regional hospital boards. The aim is to co-ordinate their work and cut out overlapping and waste. Teaching hospitals share with universities the task of training and research. They are linked with the regional organization.

Navy League Not Forced to Close Prince Robert House, Aldermen Say

The Navy League of Canada is closing Prince Robert House hostel, March 31, on its own "free will and volition and is not being forced out by the City."

This was stressed at a City Council meeting yesterday by several aldermen. Said Alderman Waldo Skillings:

"The city has bent over backwards to co-operate with Navy [illegible] erroneous to say we left them holding the bag. I think a naval hostel is a Dominion Government responsibility, and the taxpayers of Victoria shouldn't be burdened with any costs."

He stressed he wasn't opposed to the work of the league, but "we have to look after the interests of our citizens." The league, he continued, wishes to vacate because the building isn't fit for use as a hostel.

"We offered the league the opportunity to continue the lease for six months on a month-to-month basis, at no charge, so they could make arrangements for another hostel. They declined. We cooperated to the fullest extent. If there is no hostel in the city, it is not our fault," said Alderman Skillings.

"It should be emphasized that the league was not forced out," added Alderman Dr. J. D. Hunter. The building could be condemned. It is in such bad shape."

Council's finance committee was informed at a meeting yesterday morning that the lease would not be renewed. Attending were Forrest L. Shaw, local branch president of the league, and Admiral W. B. Creery.

"We are not renewing the lease because the building requires a capital expenditure immediately of $25,000," said Mr. Shaw after the meeting.

WOULD BUILD ANEW

He added that an effort will be made to build a new hostel, but the money would have to come from public subscriptions. About $50,000 would be needed, Mr. Shaw said.

It is understood the navy is extremely anxious to have hostel accommodation in the city. A vigorous effort is expected to be made towards this end.

The Navy League had an option for another ten-year lease.

Meeting Bars Radicals

SASKATOON, March 27 (CP).—The 23 delegates attending an all-Doukhobor conference here today debated whether to participate in a so-called peace conference scheduled for Toronto.

A resolution before the meeting calls for participation in peace conferences whenever possible and for contacts with pacifist and anti-militarist organizations.

Meanwhile, outside the conference, a spokesman for the radical Sons of Freedom sect said the group would not participate in the meeting although it had a written invitation.

The conference yesterday refused to seat two members of the sect.

The spokesman, Stepan Sorokin, spiritual leader of the Sons of Freedom, said his group would stay away because of the conference's possible support of the Toronto Peace Congress, which he said "is another way of supporting Stalin's peace."

Mr. Sorokin said that since he assumed leadership all violence by members of the sect has ended.

Power Development Outranks Fuel Buildup

—THE ATOMIC STORY—

This is one of a series of articles telling "The Atomic Story." It discusses some of the problems involved in winning the full advantages from atomic energy both for military and peaceful uses.

By DARRELL GARWOOD

WASHINGTON, March 27 (INS)—The Atomic Energy Commissioners feel that for a generation at least the U.S. must continue to get atomic explosives by the meagre yield methods used at Oak Ridge, Tenn., and Hanford, Wash.

Large quantities of explosive stuff could be realized as the by-product of power plants only if the energy were already in general use. During a build-up period, the power plants will need the fuel they produce, plus large Government fuel loans, for expansion.

Military uses in sight for the atom, including piloted planes and probably submarines as well as the H-bomb and atomic artillery, threaten the big consumers of fuel, shoving back the day of large-scale peacetime use of atomic energy.

The Oak Ridge and Hanford works consequently are not only being operated near capacity, but are being duplicated.

DEVELOPMENT PLAN

Experts believe the power prospect may develop as follows:

1. A large city using 2,000,000,000 kilowatt hours could convert to atomic electricity by investing $350,000,000 in processing and heat-producing plants that would annually consume 1,000 pounds of fuel (equal to 1,500,000 tons of coal).

2. These plants would create 1,120 to 1,260 pounds of new atomic fuel a year, or an annual net increase of 120 to 260 pounds—five to 12 A-bombs.

3. The saving on coal at $5 a ton, plus the atomic fuel increase at $7,500 a pound (its fuel value only), would amount to 3.3 to 3.8 per cent on the disproportionately large initial investment.

The fuel-producing method consists mainly of wrapping a chain reaction in a "blanket," a foot to several feet thick, of the refined material that is to absorb spare neutrons to become fuel.

FUEL-MAKING MOTORS

Where space and performance per unit of weight are not at a premium, large atomic motors can be fuel producers.

The most likely places for them are merchant ships and later railroad locomotives.

An atomic robot plane, conceivably could be a fuel-producer, and a sky freight train.

A possibility certain to receive serious consideration is using atomic explosive to set up chain reactions for the sole purpose of creating new fuel, letting the power go to waste.

This would compare with the method at Hanford, where chain reactions are maintained in natural uranium to create fuel.

Whereas a chain reaction can be obtained in a pound of explosive, one cannot be obtained in less than fifty tons of natural uranium.

LOW CONVERSION

The Oak Ridge and Hanford methods, although radically different, are alike in that neither can convert more than about one-half of one per cent of uranium into fuel.

If atomic explosive is used solely to create more fuel, a number of additional chemical operations are introduced that make the process less attractive than it looks.

Also, from a domestic and world political standpoint any failure to make use of the power would be extremely undesirable.

Large numbers of persons are already concerned because no use is made of the heat of the Hanford furnaces, although the waste in this case is comparatively minor.

In the international field, the U.S. commissioners have to consider that there is competition in power as well as weapons, and that great prestige will accrue to the country that uses the energy to raise either its own living standards or the standards of backward areas under its influence.

The decision of the commission, therefore, is that atomic power must be pushed ahead at every opportunity, and that the yield of new fuel must be considered a by-product.

Should atomic power fail to take hold despite, however, the use of explosive solely to create more explosive almost certainly would have to be adopted eventually.

Ontario's First Korean Casualty Is Welcomed Home

—Central Press Canadian

Pte. John Keith Robertson of Moffat, Ontario's first casualty to arrive from the Korean war, is seen receiving a long-awaited kiss from his mother, left, and sister, Mrs. Phyllis Pemberton, upon his arrival home. "It took just 46 hours to whisk him by air from Tokio to Malton, with stops at the Aleutians, Vancouver, Calgary and Winnipeg. His route from the battlefield included treatment at U.S., British and two Canadian hospitals for wounds which resulted in losing sight of one eye and which were received when, in Korea, while driving the Chinese Reds from one of the rocky "hills," a bullet ricocheted off a rock and struck him in the head.

U.S. Overconfidence Undermining Strength

—INTERPRETING THE NEWS—

By J. M. ROBERTS, Jr.
A.P. News Analyst

There is a growing air of superciliousness in the United States [illegible] which can produce serious mistakes in the evaluation of her world position.

Defence mobilization officials exude confidence that rearmament can be accomplished without straining the nation's economy, without a real austerity program and without producing greater inflation.

Yet the program is not in balance with regard to consumer prices and wages. Defence production is only beginning to make its impact, despite the fact that military contracts and pre-contract authorizations already exceed Congressional appropriations made with a view to keeping a balance.

POOR YARDSTICK

The State Department recently cited membership losses of the Communist Party as evidence that Moscow is losing its fight for infiltration of Europe. There are good reasons for believing that Communism controls fewer people. Elections show it. Waning ability to conduct serious strikes and other disturbances show it. But party membership is a poor indication of party strength.

The early post-war Communist vote in Europe was cast largely by non-Communists, people who wanted change. Russia rewarded millions of soldiers and war workers with party membership. Since the war there has been a continuous and drastic reduction. The Communist aim is for a party without doubtful fringes.

The party itself, for purposes of both political and physical sabotage, and for fifth columning in case of war, could be truly stronger now than two years ago. Any failure to recognize this is to underestimate the enemy.

In a long hot or cold war, such as this promises to be, superciliousness and skepticism can produce only negative results.

Mainland Man Found Chinese Good Soldiers

McCHORD AIR FIELD, Wash. March 27 (CP).—Lieut. Alfred S. Wagstaff, one of the first Canadian Army casualties in the Korean war, has only another 200 miles to go and he'll be home.

He landed here today after a 5,000-mile flight from Tokio and was taken to Madigan Military Hospital where he will rest for a couple of days before completing the homeward journey to Vancouver.

"Korea is tougher than France," Lieut. Wagstaff told newspaper reporters. "Don't discount the Chinese soldier. He's a good soldier."

Wagstaff was wounded a month ago when his platoon launched a hill attack to route a Chinese Communist machinegun nest. He suffered leg injuries.

"The Chinese were in covered trenches. Their positions and pillboxes were at least on a par with those of the Germans."

MACHINEGUN WOUND

Lieut. Wagstaff, veteran of the World War, added: "A machinegun got me. One of our boys was killed and two were wounded in action."

The 30-year-old veteran is encased in a plaster cast from his chest right down to the toes of his right foot.

"It was only my second time in action in Korea," he said.

"The terrain is tougher in Korea than in Europe. The hills are terribly steep and there's lots of rock."

Shortly after arrival the lieutenant telephoned his wife and four-year-old daughter Barbara in Vancouver.

"I feel fine," was his message to the family. "Probably I'll be home in a day or two."

GARBOLDISHAM, Norfolk, England (CP). — Parishioners wondered why the roof of their church suddenly began leaking. Later a truck was spotted driving away with lead stolen from the church roof.

Senate Road Show Takes Last Bow

WASHINGTON, March 27 (AP).—Senate crime probers rang down the curtain today on "television's greatest show" and called on the American people to get behind their drive in Congress to wipe out big-scale gambling.

Then they voted to ask the Senate to cite for contempt two alleged big-scale gamblers who refused to talk. They are Morris Kleinman and Louis Rothkopf.

Another long-sought witness, James Brink, was arrested by the F.B.I. last week. Brink was identified by committee attaches as the operator of a gambling place in Covington, Ky. Brink answered some questions today but balked about telling of his income.

NOT TOUGH ENOUGH

The committee ended its eleven months of public hearings in nine states by accusing the Treasury of failure to crack down hard enough on underworld tax-dodgers.

Treasury officials replied they've done their best but will try even harder in the future, with special "racketeer squads" assigned to study the tax returns of known or suspected criminals and gamblers.

During the day, three committee members told a newspaper man they have received threats against their lives.

Senator Charles Tobey disclosed he had received two threats by letter and one by telephone. Chairman Estes Kefauver got a number of threatening "crackpot letters" which he treated lightly. A warning against "sticking your nose in other people's business" was received by Senator Lester Hunt.

"The people have seen what the crime picture is," Kefauver said. "The time has come when the people must go into action."

Paraplegic Given Fine

VANCOUVER, March 27 (CP). — A police court magistrate today questioned the wisdom of allowing paraplegics to drive an automobile, even if the vehicle is equipped with special hand controls.

Magistrate W. W. B. McInnes fined John F. Bordham $50 on a dangerous driving charge and suspended his driver's licence for six months.

Bordham, paralyzed from the waist down, told the court he glanced away from the road to speak to someone in the back seat moments before his car collided with a parked automobile.

SWANSEA, Wales (CP)—A seaman who delayed a trawler here was fined £5 ($15) for "disobeying a command to go to sea."

Result of Oil Crisis

Middle East Showdown Seen; U.K. May Send Airborne Force

LONDON, March 27 (N.A.N.A.).—Another showdown of armed forces in the Persian Gulf is imminent, a direct result of the Iranian oil crisis.

Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison of Britain is considering a War Office plan to land an airborne brigade at Basra, in Southern Iraq on the Persian Gulf. This would parallel the action taken in 1946, in which His Majesty's Government ordered a cruiser and a Royal Air Force squadron into the zone as a forceful indication to Moscow to stop its heavy pressure on Teheran.

The plan under consideration calls for the R.A.F. to go from the Suez Canal Zone to Basra without entering Iranian territory. Such troops would only be 70 miles from Abadan and close enough to prevent the occupation of the world's largest refinery by Iranian troops or Russian airborne forces.

NEW PLOT

In Teheran, according to A.P. dispatches, a Government source said fanatical Nationalists plotted to assassinate the Shah, Premier Hussein Ala and other high officials in this oil-rich country on March 21, the morning of the Persian New Year.

Nine sect members were arrested March 30, after two were caught waiting to ambush the military governor of Teheran, Gen. Abdul Hossein Hejazi.

A Government communique said martial law, imposed last week in Teheran, has been extended to the strike-harassed Southern oil fields —worked mainly by the British-controlled Anglo-Iranian Oil Company—to frustrate the "dangerous plots" of agitators.

Dispatches from Baghdad said three British warships steamed into the Persian Gulf to protect the British interests centred around Abadan, but there was no official confirmation.

Oddities

CULVER CITY, Calif., March 27 (AP)—A department store offered a brand new television receiver to any person who could guess the number of electrical connections in a display set.

But store officials then discovered red-facedly that even television engineers who helped build the set couldn't give the number of connections.

So the store put five men to work dismantling the set and counting. Today, two days later, they had the answer—1,107 connections.

And Ellis Finkle, a Los Angeles man, was declared the contest winner. He guessed 1,107.

HOUSTON, Tex., March 27 (AP)—Vincent Santamaria, planning to fence part of his three-acre tract, bought 27 fence posts two weeks ago.

He left the posts lying around in the open. No one took them.

This week he had them set deeply and solidly in the ground.

A thief stole them.

MANILA, March 27 (AP)—Manila will soon say goodbye to those dazzling synthetic redheads.

The supply of dyes and rinses is running low. Controls ban new imports.

But the blondes will linger on. Plenty of peroxide.

B.C. Works Program Large But Diversified

HEDGED with an "if" in view of possible international complications or interruptions, British Columbia's public works program was outlined in the Legislature yesterday by Hon. E. C. Carson, calling for $21,700,000 to be spent on roads, bridges, buildings and other Government projects in the coming year. For that sum, British Columbia may insure a lot of work, but it is not noticeable that the Province will complete anything. Further considerable sums are to be spent on the John Hart Highway afield. There will be $6,000,000 voted for the Trans-Canada Highway. Some 280 miles of road are to be paved. There will be nine small public buildings for an estimated $3,695,000. Road and works maintenance has grown to $8,350,000. But the Government is still working from the periphery in, instead of from the centre out, with unfortunate effects for Vancouver Island. Had Mr. Carson—one of the ablest Works Ministers British Columbia has had—an independent road commission behind him, with a master plan in which politics played no part, this is certainly not the program that could have been submitted to the House.

In so far as Vancouver Island is concerned, [illegible] people in the Greater Victoria area will not be thrilled over the prospect of waiting two years for completion of the promised Patricia Bay highway; nor in the fact that negotiations "have begun" for the purchase of a right of way for the new main outlet to the Island Highway from this city (part of the Trans-Canada Highway itself). Both of these projects were pledged more than three years ago, when citizens were told that these would be put first on the list. They are evidently not first, while other work at the periphery of the Island road system has been scheduled and will no doubt be pushed ahead. Not to deny that road improvement is necessary at Sooke, Alberni and Campbell River, is there anything more important that the outlet to the main trunk road of Vancouver Island? Something of the same inverted system can be seen in reference to the new Hart Highway, where the Government has "completed" 27.5 miles, but still there are 24.5 miles to go. Gaps do not make a good road system. The perennial question arises, with all of these millions will the Province complete even one single trunk route in British Columbia this year?

General MacArthur Does It Again

IT remains to be seen whether or not the political censorship imposed by the United States on ebullient General MacArthur will restrain him from making any more unauthorized and highly embarrassing international pronouncements. General MacArthur seems to have grown too big for his boots and to have placed too broad an interpretation on the "Supreme" in his title as commander of United Nations forces in Korea. His supremacy there may give him wide discretion as to how the campaign is to be waged, but not to set United Nations policy or issue statements of policy without consultation or advice from his superiors.

General MacArthur's offer of truce in the field to the Chinese Communists, reinforced by an implied threat of United Nations attack on the Chinese mainland was not his to make, and certainly at a time when the issues he took it on himself to decide were sub judice. Washington's public repudiation of any responsibility for the MacArthur overtures was probably one of the most remarkable documents in military history. Its statement that the political issues involved were beyond MacArthur's responsibility as a field commander was accompanied by a frank admission that his pronouncement was a complete surprise to Washington.

Many believe that General MacArthur's flamboyantly-proclaimed vow last year to march all the way to the Manchurian border precipitated Communist China's entry into the war, with grave consequences to all forces under his command. His latest unauthorized pronouncement certainly will not endear him to the British authorities, who appreciated the importance of working the Reds into the disadvantageous position of having to make the first bid for a peace settlement. It will be interesting to see if they will be satisfied with the gagging of MacArthur rather than his removal from command, a request which they would seem fully justified in making in the circumstances.

The Idea Is Both Vicious and Impractical

BRITISH Columbia legislators should think twice before endorsing the idea of a hidden turnover tax at the retail level to finance new Federal pension schemes. It is all very well for the Premier to say that this province does not intend to take advantage of the proposed B.N.A. Act amendment, and that such a tax would not be levied here. No promise of this kind would be binding on the government's successor, which conceivably may come into office two years hence, and once provision for the tax had been made merchants would be at the mercy of any provincial administration.

Study of the idea by mercantile groups has shown that in reality a 3 per cent turnover tax would operate mainly as a disabling levy on the small shopkeeper and perhaps even drive him out of business. Obviously it would be impossible for him to calculate one month in advance, let alone a whole year, what his turnover might be, and therefore impossible for him to assess the tax against the items he has to sell. How, in any case, could he add a fractional tax to the price of a bar of soap, or to any one of scores of other items sold in small quantities?

It seems apparent this idea of a hidden turnover levy is of the harebrained variety, produced without thought of how it could be imposed or collected, and with total disregard to its effect on the ordinary retail merchant. The protest aroused in British Columbia should be enough to convince M.L.A.'s they have no warrant for agreeing to the resolution sought by the Federal Government. Instead they could advise Ottawa to find some other means of permitting provinces to augment their revenues for pension purposes. And since the Premier has said British Columbia does not need such a tax for itself, there is not slightest excuse for the Legislature to support such an iniquitous measure.

RUNAWAY BUDGETS

Sir,—Through the lavish expenditures of governments, thousands of individuals who abhor debt and personally avoid it are forced collectively to assume obligations beyond their power to discharge. The result is lifelong slavery for themselves and their children in the interest of those who traffic in the medium of exchange.

The freedom of which politicians boast is evidently freedom to enslave the citizens through perpetual collective borrowing, at the same time assuring them that they must make sacrifices to oppose collectivism.

To make use of the protection afforded by law to the head of a family under similar circumstances might be worth a trial. The provider should be the decider.

Press notices, framed in the usual legal form repudiating debts contracted without authority, signed by organizations and individuals, would be a unique and striking protest against insupportable financial dictatorship.

The Members of the Legislature who oppose the wild spending sprees of our British Columbia Government should put this suggestion before their constituents. The move would, at least, be a straw in the wind to the money market.

SARAH L. FOSBERY.

451 Walter Avenue, Victoria, B.C.

CURBING DRUNKEN DRIVING

Sir,—One notes that the drunken driver is still able to get away scot free. A new test is suggested, but it will be defied in the same way that the blood test was, by a person accused refusing to take the test.

Last year I suggested that the only way to enforce the law in this matter was to make the drivers' licences in the form of a contract, such as: "I, John Doe, do hereby agree that, in return for the privilege of being allowed to drive on the roads of the Province of British Columbia, I will permit any law enforcement official to take a blood sample (or any other sample) from my body, should I be suspected of being drunk while driving. . . ."

A refusal to permit such test would then be a breach of contract and the driver's licence would become null and void. We would very quickly have these people off the roads if this were done. No lawyer can beat a broken contract.

When will our Attorney-General get wise? There is altogether too much playing at law enforcement in this regard, and so-called juvenile delinquency. . . .

FRANK C. HIGHFIELD.

Ladysmith, B.C.

Thinking Aloud

". . . of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

THE meticulous attention paid to the clock by hockey broadcasters intrigues me. Every play is recorded to the exact moment, and to my unlearned ears that always seems too much of a good thing.

There will be an explanation, I don't doubt. Our sports editor could enlighten me if I took the trouble to step into his room only ten yards away, but that might spoil my grumble.

Well, it's not really a grumble. Primarily it is just that in connection with a sporting event the only arithmetic I'm interested in is the final score. I don't like a lesson in mathematics as I go along.

I have noted this peculiar habit before — mentally I mean, not in this column—but was more forcibly struck with it than usual the other night when listening to the Cougars climb back into the running by defeating Portland Eagles, much to the joy of Victorians of all shades and ages. As you read this excitement will be mounting again for the game tomorrow night, which should be a humdinger.

* * *

There are folk who listen continually to hockey broadcasts, but I'm not one of these true-blue devotees. Any game described on the air bores me if I listen too long, so that mostly I switch in only now and then to see how the teams are faring. Vicarious sport does not ring the bell with me; I much prefer my eyes to my ears.

This is not to belittle the broadcasters. Oh no. These chaps do a fine job, and since it is impromptu and depends on spur-of-the-moment wit, all the more credit to them. But everyone to his taste and mine is not for long-distance excitement.

Neither, to get back to where I started, is it for arithmetic.

You will have gathered, I hope, what I'm driving at; the passion for pin-pointing, the precise second the puck is plunked into the net. At 9:30, say, in the first period; 5:01 in the second, and so on.

Of course, like anyone else I like to get a rough idea when a goal is scored. If the result at the end of the game is 3 to 1 for the Cougars, it's interesting to know that early on Victoria took a two-goal lead, perhaps, and held on to it until the final five minutes, after which each team popped one in.

But to me it doesn't matter whether the goals were scored at 7:15 minutes or 10:20 minutes, so long as they're scored. Superfine statistical nuances leave me cold.

* * *

Even more surprising to this writer, however, is the duplication of this system to include penalties. Listening to the summary as expounded at the end of last Sunday's game in Portland the sports picture was quite ruined for me by the long, meticulous time recital. The game was over and I couldn't see that it mattered at what particular moment Mazur or Webster or Hopper had been sent to the penalty box.

As far as that goes why do they bother to count the number of shots each goalkeeper stops.

However, as I said before, I only have to ask our sports editor, I suppose, to have the mystery explained. The practice is common to all Canada so there must be virtue in it. Perhaps it enables a hockey fan to reconstruct the game afterwards, just as a detective does a murder.

Anyway, my patriotic instincts compel me to say that if arithmetic helps the Cougars to win tomorrow night, they can dive right into the multiplication table to their heart's content.

So long as the Victoria team scores I won't object too much if the announcer keeps harping on the split second each time this welcome action takes place. I shan't be listening to him, in any case, as I hope to see the game in person.

Military Impasse Over Korea

By JAY G. HAYDEN

North American Newspaper Alliance

WASHINGTON. — The new effort by Trygve Lie, secretary-general of the United Nations, to negotiate a cease-fire in Korea may have been prompted by the continuing inability of the nations fighting for the U.N. to agree on what to do militarily in that country from now on.

A recent meeting of the latter group in Washington ended with no announcement at all—for the reason, it was said, that the deadlock as to whether the 38th Parallel again should be crossed remains as complete as ever.

* * *

Coincidentally, the United Nations, since it placed the aggressor brand on Communist China last February 1, has failed to turn a wheel either in implementation of that warlike pronouncement or in behalf of peace.

A committee appointed to decide what sanctions should be imposed upon Communist China has met only twice. So far it has not even agreed on a plan of procedure.

And a committee set up to negotiate for peace in Korea has got nowhere for the simple reason that the Communist Chinese have refused to have anything to do with it.

In the first place, two members of the original peace committee — Sir Benegal Rau of India and Lester Pearson of Canada—refused to continue on it, leaving only Nasrollah Entezam of Iran willing to serve. And the appointment of two new members —Sven Grafstrom of Sweden and Dr. Luis Padilla Nervo of Mexico—had no more been made than the Peiping Government announced that it would have nothing to do with the group. All efforts to reverse that Communist attitude have met with complete silence.

Hopes that the severe drubbing Chinese troops are taking in Korea would induce their Government to negotiate for peace so far have proved completely in vain. Indeed, Allied diplomats in Peiping report that with every passing day their inability to get a word out of the Chinese Communist officials on any subject becomes more complete.

* * *

This attitude of his subordinates has intensified speculation as to the whereabouts and state of health of Mao Tse-Tung, the Chinese Communist chieftain.

For at least six months Mao has not been seen by any Western diplomat, nor has he been reported by his own Government as appearing publicly.

Early last December it was reported that Mao had left for Moscow, and since then there have been repeated rumors — mostly emanating from Hongkong—that he was seriously ill. There has been no substantiation of these reports, but neither has there been any official denial of them.

While he has been rated as the supreme leader of the Chinese Communists for nearly a quarter of a century, Mao's biographers place his age at only 52 or 53.

* * *

Whether Mao's displacement would work for good or ill from the Western standpoint is a matter that only actual events can disclose. However, experience has shown that the passing of dictators usually produces a bitter fight for succession among their subordinates. The latest illustration was the struggle for power between Stalin and Trotsky, following Lenin's death.

Even more than with Stalin, death of Mao might create commotion, because the Chinese Communist regime is so new as to have had little time in which to select a successor and build for him the prestige requisite to maintain himself in power.

Also, a number of Chinese war lords now serving the Peiping Government are recent converts to Communist ideology, and might turn away from it if what they conceive to be a better connection should turn up.

Man, the Unknown

(From The Globe and Mail, Toronto)

PEARL River is a quiet little place, about 20 miles west of New York. A young fellow was walking along there the other day shooting at crows. One of his bullets went astray; instead of hitting the crow it hit a fireworks factory. The whole place went up with a blast and a cloud of smoke that led people all around to think an atomic bomb had been dropped.

What did they do? A listener to lectures, a peruser of pamphlets, might suppose that they all ran away from the explosion. The fact of the matter—as any real student of human nature, especially North American human nature, might have guessed—is that they did just the opposite. They ran, drove, and propelled their wheelchairs toward it. Every highway leading to the plant was jammed.

Civil defence officials might well study this incident. They are making their plans on the assumption that when Megalopolis gets bombed, thousands will flock out, looking for safety. They should also consider the possibility that when Megalopolis gets bombed, thousands will flock in, looking for excitement. The traffic jams may well be caused by people entering, not leaving, the doomed city.

Man is made of flesh and blood, sure enough. But in with the flesh and blood is mixed a good bit of rubber. Knock him down, and he bounces right up again: abolish him, and he comes shambling back. Threaten him with nameless horrors, and he expresses a lively interest, and asks how much it will cost to get in, and is it all right to bring the family. The kind of people now facing atomic demolition are, after all, the kind who pay out good money for automobiles which they drive at 75 miles an hour on roads fit for half that speed.

Let us not too readily assume that when the thing happens an invisible hand will be seen writing, "Mene, mene, tekel upharsin." What is as likely is that an all too visible hand will be seen collecting admission fees, and an all too audible voice heard crying, "Popcorn, peanuts, soft drinks. . . ."

John Doe Comes to Life

(From The Crowsnest)

"WHAT'S in a name?" is no mere phrase to be tossed off lightly by one member of H.M.C.S. Cayuga's company. He is Petty Officer John Doe, of Calgary and Victoria, a radio technician serving on board the destroyer.

"I am just plain John Doe," he says, "—not even a middle initial." And that is where his trouble lies. He has had many a brush with naval authorities who do a quick double-take when he says he is "John Doe."

One incident typical of the complications he's faced with occured when he reported to the ship's office of a shore establishment to sign his re-engagement form. The supply officer tossed him the forms and told him to "fill these out and put your John Doe on the dotted line." P.O. John Doe followed the instructions to the letter. He handed the completed forms back to the officer, who read them, frowned darkly and began a dissertation on what is and is not funny.

Just as he was well launched into his speech, Doe quietly produced a copy of his birth certificate. The lecture ended.

Says Doe: "I learned long ago to carry either my birth certificate or I D card with me at all times."

The Packsack

OF GREGORY CLARK

AT a recent Spring show by the students at one of the big agricultural colleges, there was a demonstration of pig judging, in which a dozen or more magnificent hogs were ushered into the prize ring by their student attendants. A more magnificent sight than a bunch of prize hogs would be hard to conceive.

The students had polished and primped their animals to a point of pink perfection. They looked like Brunhilda and her Valkyries fresh from the bath. Unlike horses or cattle, which come stumbling or charging into the prize ring, the hogs entered slowly and decorously. There is a dignity about a pig that is well-nigh human. It pauses and reflects. On being ushered, with the help of small gad tickling its ears, into the ring, the pig halts and surveys the scene. Like a comfortable fat man or a stout dowager entering the doorway of a hotel dining-room and pausing to consider where the best table is, the pig halts at the entry to the ring and seems to inquire: "What is there in this for me?" When the gad tickles its ear, it gives forth a sound exactly like that a rich man uses in addressing a head waiter.

In the show ring, horses and cattle are induced to stand steady, or to trot when the showman urges them to trot. Not so pigs. When the pig is convinced that it would be well to proceed, even though it can descry no feeding trough in sight, it proceeds with assurance and ease. And it keeps right on proceeding, regardless of the attempts of judges and showmen to make it stand still.

Twelve pigs, slowly and with imperturbable dignity, circumambulating the prize ring make an altogether delightful spectacle. They go where they list, emitting inquiring and slightly indignant sounds. They behave exactly as you or I would, if we were sent into a prize ring on all fours, even with our clothes on. It is a wonder we experience no qualms re cannibalism when we eat our breakfast bacon.

Man Claims Stolen Beer Found on Scrap Search

By R. W. MUNGALL

A Victoria man charged with stealing and retaining 61 cases of beer and a principal witness for the prosecution both testified before an Assize jury yesterday they came across the missing beer while hunting for scrap iron.

A Crown witness, Percy L. Brooks, said he found the beer while looking for scrap near the Gorge Vale Golf Course and subsequently notified police.

Called to the witness stand by Defence Counsel J. A. Byers, the accused Ivan Henry Townle, told court he worked as a painter part of the time and made extra money by picking up and selling scrap iron and bottles.

WENT FOR STOVE

Townle said that about six months before the alleged offence he had noticed parts of a stove in a former "dump" lot on Craigflower Road, west of Tillicum Road, where the cases were later found.

There wasn't enough of the scrap to make it worthwhile collecting at the time, he stated.

When he returned with his truck, Townle said, he loaded the stove parts and then noticed the beer cases, which he thought has been "discarded."

Finding the bottles were full, he began to empty them and took the tops off a dozen, he said. He then decided that this "would take too long" and started to load the full cartons onto his truck—at which point city and Esquimalt police converged on the scene.

MATTER OF OPENER

Crown Counsel Carew Martin, K.C., wanted to know what sort of bottle opener Townle had used in opening the beer.

Townle said his bottle opener was a wooden-handled affair, rather like a screwdriver, distributed by a paint company.

Mr. Byers suggested that the court might like to have a look at the opener. Jurymen said they would like to see the accused's truck also and the case was adjourned until today by Mr. Justice N. W. Whittaker.

Earlier, John William Archer, Bottle Exchange operator and only other defence witness called, testified that the accused had sold him bottles previously.

"GREAT SURPRISE"

Archer remarked that it was "a great surprise to me to see this man in the position he is in today."

On several occasions when Townle had sold him bottles, the accused had pointed out that a bottle was missing from the dozen.

"A lot of them don't," the witness declared.

Edward W. Parker, Victoria manager of Pacific Brewers Agents, Ltd., and first Crown witness to be called, testified that 100 dozen cases of beer had been stolen from the company warehouse at 301 Esquimalt Road early in January.

Esquimalt police Constable Robert Harvey said he watched the accused loading the beer into his truck before arresting him.

Constable Harvey was later joined by city police Detectives Fearon Woodburn and Henry Jarvis, who also testified yesterday.

Powers Sought By Manitoba On Electricity

WINNIPEG, March 27 (CP).—Attorney-General C. Rhodes Smith today introduced a bill for first reading in the Legislature which would commit the Manitoba Government to meet all provincial power requirements.

The bill was in the form of an amendment to the Manitoba Hydro-Electric Development Act of 1949.

Main provisions of the bill were:

1. The Government or the Manitoba Hydro-Electric Board would have the power to acquire capital stock of the Winnipeg Electric Company by agreement only.

2. The Government or the board could acquire physical assets of the company by agreement or expropriation.

SELL BACK

3. The board could purchase all power produced by city hydro and sell it back at an equalized price.

4. The board could sell, lease or otherwise dispose of the street railway, gas utilities or the power distributing system to the city or a Greater Winnipeg municipal group.

5. If a dispute arose between the city or a group of municipalities and the Province, an evaluator would be appointed to make the award. His decision, however, might be appealed to the Manitoba Court of Appeal, and possibly the Supreme Court.

RIGHTS GUARDED

6. Rights of employees would be protected insofar as wages, retirement or pension benefits are concerned.

Chief purpose of the planned reorganization of the industry is to avert a power shortage. Demand for power in the Province has been growing faster than new generating facilities can be planned and built. The Government felt it had to have control of the existing, economical plants to counterbalance the high cost of power from new sources.

Interment will be in the family plot at Ross Bay Cemetery.

Varying Versions

Flying Saucer Crashes; Odd Objects Seen Here

By BARNEY McKINLEY

Two widely-varying versions of "flying saucers" zoomed back into the news yesterday to create brand new mysteries in Victoria and Vancouver.

Sighted in this city's skies were two bright objects "shaped like gigantic fluorescent light tubes," observers said.

In Vancouver, a strange flying disc, made of material similar to that used in the wartime Japanese balloon bombs, was found in suburban Burnaby.

Two workers reported they found the inflated, oval-shaped disc on Monday, after it had been first seen by scores of workmen as it floated at an altitude of 300 feet and then descended rapidly.

CRASHED INTO TREE

The disc later crashed into a tree after gliding across Burnaby Lake. It was located in a torn condition by George Mapson and Eric Anderson. Mapson took it home.

RODS OF LIGHT

The airborne phenomena observed in Victoria were watched for some seconds by Thomas and John T. Pratt of Cereal, Alta., visitors here, at 9:30 a.m. yesterday.

The farmer brothers, now staying at 1413 Fernwood Road, said they saw two similar-shaped long rods of light which they estimated to be 100 yards long, moving in a northwesterly direction at "about the speed of a plane."

Keeping the same relative position the two objects passed from sight before it was possible to discern any means of propulsion, the Pratts said.

The disc found in Vancouver was described as being about five feet in diameter and constructed of carefully-glued rice paper strips.

SLOW FUEL

Attached to the frame was a projection to which a slowly-burning substance was fastened. Apparently the heat kept the disc in the air. When the fuel ran out, the disc crashed.

One explanation was that an amateur had made the craft.

No explanation was obtained for the flying fluorescents in Victoria.

Major Roy Saunders, Royal Canadian School of Artillery, Work Point, said no planes towing anti-aircraft target drogues were in the air over Victoria yesterday.

LONDON (CP)—Among losses when a sawmill caught fire here were 1,000,000 cocktail sticks.

Factions Wrangle As Council Meets

Open wrangling highlighted last night's meeting of Central Saanich Council as it appeared that the members lined up in two factions with Reeve Sydney Pickles and Councillor Ray Lamont at odds with the rest of the council.

Bickering was brought about through Councillor Lamont's wanting to rescind a motion on a drainage problem, but the problem was soon forgotten in a whirl of council procedure.

Reeve Pickles said he hand inquired of other councils and had found that whenever the mover withed to rescind a motion the seconder never refused permission. The seconder could then re-introduce the motion on his own if he wished, he said.

NEVER HEARD OF IT

"And I never heard of a reeve who, when putting a motion, stated that he was going to vote against it," Councillor Harold Andrew put in.

"That is a recommendation to the council," the reeve replied. "I am the only one who can make such a recommendation and I am within my duties to do so."

"You will be called out of order every time if you do," Councillor Lorne Thomson said.

"I will not be called out of order I am the reeve and don't you forget it," was the reply.

SOUGHT RULING

Reeve Pickles went on to state that he had made inquiries as to his position to introduce or second motions, but as yet had had no ruling in the matter.

"It is becoming apparent that some such procedure might be necessary at these meetings," the reeve said.

Councillor Lamont then introduced a motion to have the matter of voting procedure in Central Saanich brought up at the Town Hall meeting this Thursday for open discussion.

"I don't imagine I'll get a seconder, though," he said.

NOT AFRAID

"I will second the motion," Councillor Lorne Thomson stated. "We are not afraid of a discussion on this matter. I think the laugh will be on the other side of the face before we are through."

Reeve Pickles had labeled decision of the council last week to support a change-over in voting procedure "strait-jacketing the public."

Ratepayers at present have a choice of voting for only one or two members of a slate without invalidating their ballot.

WOMBELL, England (CP). — Mothers bringing baby carriages to football games in this Yorkshire village found a new dodge. When the carriages are parked on the edge of the field the babies are kept happy and quiet watching the linesmen run up and down the field.

Man Fined $100, Told Prank Stupid

Lester H. Lowe, 27, of 637 Coronation Avenue, Duncan, charged with unlawful possession of pistol, and with pointing a pistol, was fined $100 by Magistrate H. C. Hall in city police court yesterday.

He was arrested following an incident on the Gorge Road on March 18. Police said he pointed the gun at Mary F. Graham, 2939 Cook Street, who was passing in a car.

Following a report from the probation officer, Magistrate Hall said he was satisfied "it was a stupid and silly prank" and there was no evil intent on the part of Lowe.

Lowe was placed on a good behavior bond of $500 for six months.

Gavin Sinclair, no fixed address, was sentenced to three months in jail for taking a car without the owner's consent, and $25 for not having a current driver's licence.

"If I could just have one more chance I am sure I could make good," the accused pleaded.

"You have been sentenced about ten times before," Magistrate Hall answered. "No, I won't change the sentence."

Joseph Gillings, 137 Government Street, pleaded guilty to failing to file an accident report within 24 hours and was fined $40.

According to police evidence the accused was in collision with a youth on a bicycle on December 22, 1950. He turned in a report on March 21, 1951.

Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express came out yesterday in LONDON with a word in defence of General Douglas MacArthur.

It was time, the paper said, that critics quit "hounding" the U.N. commander in Korea. The general "suffers the fate of the man on the spot all through the ages.

"If he refuses a truce . . . that is bad. If he offers a truce, that is equally bad. . . . It is time that he was given the credit and authority due to him."

Boy's Story Leads to Charge

TED WAINWRIGHT — OWEN C. DULMADGE

Principal figures in strange abduction case at Kingston, Ont. Boy's story of being bludgeoned, driven away in car and held for nightmarish 30 hours led to charging of Dulmadge with abduction.

Handcuffed in Court

Abduction Charge Laid; Civil Servant Remanded

KINGSTON, Ont., March 27 (CP).—A charge of abduction was laid today against Owen C. Dulmage, 29-year-old Federal Government clerk who is alleged to have kidnapped 13-year-old Ted Wainwright of Kingston and held him captive for more than 30 hours.

The red-haired bespectacled Ottawa man was remanded to April 4 when he appeared in court with his face swathed in bandages and a bloodstained white scarf hanging loosely about his neck. He was handcuffed to a detective when he entered the crowded courtroom.

Police told reporters Dulmage had signed a statement which corroborated the story told them by the boy. Dulmage is charged under a section of the Criminal Code covering the abduction of children under 14. Conviction carries a maximum sentence of seven years.

SEARCH APARTMENT

Detective Inspector A. E. Ready said a search of Dulmage's apartment indicated that the boy was taken there from Kingston.

"We found everything there to substantiate the stories told us by both the boy and Dulmage," the inspector said. He would not disclose what was found in the apartment but other sources said photographic equipment, along with a number of pictures of boys, were uncovered.

Inspector Ready said Dulmage told them he was "sick of the whole business" and eager to make a clean breast of the series of events which began with the bludgeoning of the boy Friday night, less than a block from his home.

TELLS STORY

The boy, a blood-clotted wound on his head which he said his captor inflicted, told how his abductor trussed him up several times, made him put on bathing trunks, strung him put on bathing trunks, strung sleep on the floor bundled in a tarpaulin.

The boy displayed his thigh, on which were carved his initials, T.W. He said his captor scratched them with a penknife.

The case unfolded after police investigated an accident early Sunday involving Dulmage's car as he was bringing the boy back to Kingston.

Granite Slab Honors Dead

VANCOUVER, March 27 (CP).—A slab of New Zealand granite was unveiled today in memory of the New Zealand airmen who died in the World War.

T.C.A. Hislop, New Zealand High Commissioner in Canada, paid tribute to the 8,000 airmen who trained in Canada and said that the stone would serve as a "mark of love, affection and sympathy so that we can join with you in memory of those citizens of Vancouver who laid down their lives."

"Smokey" Smith, V.C., Goes Back Into Uniform

VANCOUVER, March 27 (CP).—Ernest Alvia Smith, known to his pals as "Smokey" and the first Canadian private to win the Victoria Cross in the World War, was back in uniform tonight.

He was formally sworn in to the Canadian Army Special Service Force today—11 years to the month from the first time.

But this time he's not a private. He was promoted to sergeant at the swearing-in ceremony.

He was granted leave until Friday. Then he goes to Edmonton, where he will be attached to Western Command headquarters recruiting office.

HERO IN ITALY

He was awarded the V.C. December 19, 1944. Smokey was with the Seaforth Highlanders battling to establish a bridgehead across the Savio River in Italy. He knocked out a German tank with a Piat gun, cut down four enemy infantry men, disabled two gun-carriers with his tommy gun and forced another to turn tail. Still under fire, he held the position until the following day.

He was discharged in 1945. Married and the father of two children, he has been managing a photography business in New Westminster.

♣ J 8 6 5 2

It was scarcely to be expected that the bidding would be the same at all tables, but as it happened, the following sequence was used in no fewer than five cases:

| West | North | East | South |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 H. | Pass | 2 D. | 2 S. |
| 3 H. | Pass | 4 H. | 4 S. |
| 5 H. | Pass | Pass | 5 S. |
| Dbl. | Pass | Pass | Pass |

Every West laid down the club king as opening lead, and every East started an echo with the ten. West continued with the ace and queen of clubs—and at four out of the five tables, the East player signalled with a high diamond on the third round. When West obediently shifted to diamonds, however, the various declarers ruffed, drew the opposing trumps in two rounds, then got rid of dummy's hearts on established clubs. Since there was only one trump left in dummy, these declarers had to lose one heart trick, but they suffered penalties of only 500 points.

The West player at the fifth table was a little more imaginative than his opposite numbers! He gave thought to the possibility that West had only three clubs, and instead of waiting to over-ruff dummy on a perhaps never coming fourth lead of the suit, this West ruffed the third round! He realized that his trumps were of no great importance and that West might welcome a heart lead through declarer. Then, if the clubs had really been divided 4-4 between declarer and West, the latter, knowing the situation, would lead another club, and East could over-ruff dummy on that round.

In short, nothing could be lost by ruffing West's club queen, but there was the possibility of gain through this procedure. This East's thoughtfulness was rewarded to the tune of an 800-point penalty, and top on the board.

New Swiss Discovery F "99"

for Eczemas, Boils, Psoriasis, Leg Ulcers

Read how Skin Troubles can now be definitely cleared up, as shown on these medically certified photographs.

THE DISCOVERY of one of the main causes of skin diseases will bring new health and happiness to thousands of people suffering from Eczemas, Boils, Leg Ulcers and Psoriasis. Science has established that the lack of unsaturated fatty acids in nutrition reduces the natural resistance of the body and leads to skin disease. As this precious substance—so essential to skin health—is often completely absent in modern food, the number of skin sufferers in all civilized countries has a tendency to increase every year.

Remarkable Discovery

A Swiss chemist, Dr. W. Schmitz, succeeded after 10 years of research work in extracting from pure, specially selected vegetable oils an unsaturated fatty acid with a concentration of 99% and therefore named F "99". Thanks to this very high purity which was never attained up to now, F "99" is so readily digested by the stomach and so quickly absorbed into the blood stream, that it has a decisive biological activity in the treatment of skin diseases. Its remarkable efficiency has astonished even Skin Specialists of international reputation.

New, natural way to clear up skin troubles

F "99" is not a synthetic drug but a concentrate of natural nutritive substances which Science has recognized as being essential to the health of skin. It is absolutely harmless and may be given even to infants without any hesitation.

As its name suggests, the F "99" Two-Way Treatment acts both internally (capsules or liquid) and externally (ointment). While F "99" Ointment treats the external symptoms of the ailment, F "99" Capsules give the body the power to suppress the cause and to combat successfully Eczemas, Boils, Leg Ulcers and even Psoriasis. To many thousands of skin sufferers all over the world, F "99" Two-Way Treatment is already being used with outstanding results even on cases where all ordinary treatments have failed.

Illustrated F "99" Booklet containing all the interesting facts concerning this remarkable new Swiss Discovery which brings new hope to all skin sufferers, can be obtained free of charge from any druggist or by sending your name and address to Diva-Laboratories, Dept. [illegible], P.O. Box 116, Victoria, B.C.

Council Action Bad News To Drivers of Small Cars

The owners of small English cars have had their hey-day in the downtown parking turmoil.

City Council yesterday approved a transportation committe recommendation requiring car owners to "park at a metered space."

Aldermen were puzzled at first, but Alderman Waldo Skillings, committee chairman, came to their rescue.

He explained that small car owners have been sneaking into non-metered spaces between other cars. Metered spaces, he added, are 22 feet in length and, depending on the ways cars are parked, there often is sufficient room for a small type car to park in between. The police have no jurisdiction, he said, so the by-law needs amending.

City Solicitor A. J. Patton will be instructed to draw up the amendment.

"STOP WHEN OCCUPIED"

Five "stop when occupied" school crosswalks will be installed. They will be situated at Yates and Camosun Streets, Yates Street and Fernwood Road, Fort and Morrison Streets, Fort and Moss Streets, and Fort and Ormond Streets.

"This plan is being put into effect progressively where proper supervision is given by junior safety patrols," explained Alderman Skillings.

SPEED LIMIT

A 20-mile-an-hour speed limit will be imposed on Songhees Road from Johnson Street to the westerly end of the Sidney Roofing Company property.

WHITE LINES

All street lines will be painted white instead of yellow, it was decided by council on recommendation of the transportation committee.

A number of telephone and electric light poles on Fernwood Road, considered a hazard probably will be painted. The companies will be asked to do the work. The transportation committee will approach the companies with a view to having the poles removed at the earliest possible date.

HEYWOOD PARK

Council approved a parks committee recommendation that Heywood Avenue soccer field be renovated at a cost of $500.

Council, as expected, endorsed the Provincial Government proposal to increase payment to social assistance cases. Effective April 1, one person will get $40 monthly, a unit of two persons $60 and each additional dependent $9.50 extra.

Aldermen, however, on the social welfare committee's recommendation, protested the action of the Government in increasing the municipality's proportion of shareable costs. This part was laid on the table for further discussion.

GRANTED

The Alma Mater Society, Victoria College, was granted permission to hold a Rugby parade March 31.

City Work Crews Remove Old Wooden Paving Blocks

THE last of Victoria's historic wooden paving blocks are being removed from Humboldt Street between Douglas and Government Streets. Alderman Dr. J. D. Hunter, chairman of the public works committee, said the street will be paved.

Crews have nearly completed the job of reconstructing Humboldt Street between Blanshard and Rupert Streets, and work is progressing on Washington Avenue where a lot of rock is being removed.

Opening Subjects Varied At Public Health Institute

New techniques of phychological medicine, new and deadly war gasses, and dentist's chairs with motorcycle lights all came up for discussion yesterday at the opening session of the Institute for Provincial Public Health Workers.

Director of mental health at the Provincial Mental Hospital, Dr. A. M. Gee, told gathered health workers of the success of the Crease Clinic of Psychological Medicine, recently opened at Essondale.

Dr. Gee was one of a six-man panel on mental hygiene which reported to the Institute.

Operating separately from the mental hospital, the Crease Clinic deals mainly with mental disorders in their early stages, Dr. Gee said. The clinic can handle 325 persons, but under Provincial law, patients can stay only four months.

TELLS OF SCHOOL

Dr. Gee then dealt with the Woodlands School for sub-normal children. Located at New Westminster, the school now has 800 children.

Dr. Stewart Murray, medical health officer for Vancouver, also on the panel, said that while only 1 per cent of the population was admitted to mental hospitals, 5 per cent have experienced some form of mental disturbance during their lifetimes.

Dr. George Elliott, assistant Provincial health officer, said new nerve gases were considered a greater threat in modern warfare than older choking gases or biological warfare.

Ten times more powerful than mustard gas, new nerve gases can cause death with relatively moderate concentrations.

Hitler was producing nerve gases at the rate of 1,000 tons a month, Dr. Elliott said, but never used them for fear of retaliation.

DANGER NOT GREAT

Although most people panicked at the idea of biological warfare, the danger to humans was not great, he said.

Deputy Minister of Health Dr. G. F. Amyot said if someone could design a good dentist's chair for mobile units, he had himself a customer.

The Provincial dental division had had difficulty in securing a good chair, Dr. Amyot said, because most that were available were too big or heavy for the purpose.

SOLVED PROBLEM

Dental staff members had solved the problem themselves by building their own collapsible chair which could be easily moved about in a station wagon.

The chair had its own water and disposal system and was complete with all the dentist "gadgets," including a light which many dentists said was better than those in permanent offices. Dr. Amyot said the light was really borrowed from a motorcycle, but it was less easily broken than the regular dental lights.

Bill to Pay Judges Extra Passes Second Reading

Opposition to the bill providing for payment of special allowances to chief justices and justices and judges of the Appeal Court and the Supreme Court was heard yesterday in the Legislature.

The bill provides for annual payment of $1,500 to chief justices and $1,000 to justices and judges as recompense for extra work put on their shoulders by the Province in Royal Commission work.

Opposition Leader Harold Winch claimed the Judges Act of Canada prohibited any judge from accepting extra payment for his services.

GRAVE DOUBTS

Allan MacDonnell (Cln., Vancouver Centre) declared grave doubts had been raised in his mind about proceeding with second reading of the bill.

Payment of the honorariums to the judges as set out in the bill would raise their income tax categories so that much of the amount would go to the Federal treasury in income taxes.

Mr. MacDonnell said the bill was wrong in principle and might be wrong constitutionally. He said he was dubious about the legislation going through right on the heels of boosts in Hospital Insurance premiums.

PAID IN PAST

[illegible] admitted judges had been paid more than expenses for work on Royal Commissions in the past. Passage of the bill would save the Province "a considerable amount of money," he asserted.

The Attorney-General said there was no question as to constitutionality. He said County Court judges were being paid in a similar manner.

"In every province of Canada judges have received honorariums of this kind," he declared.

The bill passed second reading.

Income Tax Returns In Early This Year

E. M. COCKBURN

Victoria got a new income tax director yesterday and a new rating with the income tax branch of the Department of National Revenue.

The new Mr. Income Tax, R. M. Cockburn, former supervisor of administration for the income tax office in Edmonton, Alta., succeeds L. S. Drummond, who will return to Vancouver.

Coincident with Mr. Cockburn's appointment the Victoria office graduates to district office status with Vancouver Island now rated as a separate district.

Up until now it has been a part of the Vancouver district.

MILD-MANNERED

The new income tax director, something different from the cartoon version of an income tax collector twisting the arm of a tax-dodging citizen, is a mild-mannered young businessman.

His sternest word yesterday was a warning to file income tax returns early and avoid the rush.

It sounded like the Christmas shopping slogan, but all the presents are for the Minister of National Revenue.

Like most officials connected with the country's bookkeeping, Mr. Cockburn was not eager to do any crystal gazing in this year's tax picture, but employees in the local office said Victorians were filing their income tax early this year.

NO STAMPEDE

They said they believed the last-minute stampede of persons filing income tax returns would be avoided this season.

The local boss of the T1 round-up went through some of the rules yesterday for the benefit of people who don't like that fine print.

Just for the record:

Deadline for filing is midnight, April 30. Forms must be in the mail by then or you are subject to a penalty amounting to 5 per cent of the unpaid tax.

Be sure your medical expenses are in excess of 4 per cent of net income before deducting from taxable income. The expense must have been incurred and paid in 1950 or in a 12-month period ending in 1950.

RECEIPTS NEEDED

Receipts must be attached to your T1 form.

Payments to druggists or for eye glasses are not included in medical expenses under the Income Tax Act.

Costs of artificials limbs for yourself, wife, or dependents, spinal brace, limb brace, hearing aid or wheel chair are medical expenses.

Also on the list is the salary paid to an attendant if the taxpayer is confined to a bed or wheel chair for the full year.

It should be borne in mind, the tax people said, the maximum deduction for medical expenses cannot exceed $750 for a single person, $1,000 for a married person and $250 for dependents (maximum $1,000).

People planning marriage can save money by a December wedding, a study of tax regulations showed.

Even if the marriage took place December 31, 1950, the husband may claim the married exemption for the full year.

Delegates Chosen By Ward 3 P.C.'s

Eight members were elected to the Victoria Federal Progressive Conservative Association last night at a meeting of Ward 3 members.

Named were F. Spence, F. W. Jones, K. Hampton, Mrs. M. Spence, Mrs. M. Candy, Mrs. J. Taylor, Mrs. M. Dickson and Mrs. F. R. Dunning.

Next meeting of Ward 3 will be held April 26 at the home of Denis Hagar, 1802 Oak Bay Avenue.

Missing Dogs Delay Hunt for Fugitives

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 27 (AP).—A search for two fugitives from the Shelby County penal farm was delayed yesterday.

Commissioner Rudolph Jones explained: When the prisoners escaped through a hole they cut in a fence, they also freed the farm's two bloodhounds.

"We had to catch the dogs before we could chase the prisoners," said Jones.

Early Start Said Essential For Puck Star

A word of advice to disappointed hockey fans who want to talk to their favorite player before the game and are turned away from the dressing rooms was offered by Cougar Promotion Manager Leo Ornest yesterday [illegible]

Speaking on "What Makes a Hockey Player?" Mr. Ornest said fans should remember that players are "entitled to the same respect that you businessmen receive in your offices."

Mr. Ornest listed "starting young" as the primary must for a hockey player.

Eastern Canada had produced more and better hockey players because youngsters had had more of a chance to watch the game, he said.

BIG LEAP

The jump from junior to senior league hockey is "a tremendous one," one."

Even leading Pacific Coast Hockey League scorer Joe Bell of Seattle would be "found wanting by the big league," Mr. Ornest said.

Policy of the Victoria club was to get players young, decide if they would ever "get near the big time," and, if not, advise them to get trades and jobs, rather than become "hockey bums," the speaker said.

Good management was essential in producing good players, Mr. Ornest said, adding that hockey players were probably "the most spoiled" of all professional athletes.

"Everything is supplied for them."

Ten Chamber Members Join Board of Directors

Ten Chamber of Commerce members last night were elected to serve on the organization's board of directors.

To serve a two-year term on the board are E. W. Arnott, M. V. Chesnut, Austin Curtis, T. G. Denny, G. F. Gregory, Stuart Keate, H. R. Stephen, G. H. Wheaton and R. B. Wilson.

W. C. Mearns will serve a one-year term.

Chamber of Commerce president Fred Hawes said that in addition to himself, there were seven directors yet to serve another year. They are: F. N. Cabeldu, W. J. Clark, H. B. Elworthy, W. A. Pendray, F. L. Shaw, J. C. Thow and H. A. Wallace.

George I. Warren, managing secretary of the chamber, reported 337 ballots had been cast—"which is a record within the chamber."

Serving as scrutineers in last night's vote-counting session were: A. M. Kirk, Capt. Ronald Newell, C. J. Harrington, Jack Speck, H. Singleton, J. M. Robbins, J. Coles, H. J. Sims and Earl Pollock.

Canada Plans Air Parcel Post Service

OTTAWA, March 27 (CP).—The Post Office Department announced today it will inaugurate an air parcel post system within Canada starting April 2.

The new system will come under a new scale of rates. It applies only to parcels weighing between eight ounces and five pounds, mailed and delivered in Canada.

Top rate for a five-pound parcel delivered in the province of mailing will be 90 cents, while the maximum rate for a parcel delivered anywhere in Canada will be $5. Special rates [illegible] delivered to Post Offices situated on air stage routes—serving remote areas in which there is no other regular means of transportation.

Packages mailed for air transportation which weigh less than eight ounces will continue to move at air letter rates.

The size of air parcels also is restricted. They must not be more than 24 inches in length, and length and girth combined must not exceed 50 inches.

Increased rates on third-class mail will go into effect April 2.

Third-class matter addressed to "Householder" or "Boxholder," which formerly was carried for one cent for the first two ounces and one cent for each additional two ounces, now will go at 1½ cents for the first two ounces, with no change in the additional rate.

Third-class matter addressed to individuals will cost two cents for [illegible] cent as at present. The rate on each additional two ounces or fraction will continue to be two cents.

An increase in registration rates also will go into effect April 2.

The Medicine Hat, Alta., News said yesterday in a news story that the one-cent rate for printed cards, form letters, Christmas and other greeting cards is to be increased to two cents on April 2. The report says postal officials neither confirm nor deny the change.

The newspaper says the increase was decided upon a month ago but Ottawa hesitated to announce it due to the flurry of protests over curtailment of postal-delivery service after the March 1 economy move.

CHAPTER II.

And so they embarked upon the second stage of an idyllic holiday, stopping at little taverns where the showing of two passports and the request for two rooms at the time of registration invariably provoked voluble protest and shrugs of despair.

Linda made sketches, which only she ever saw, and planned an itinerary which gave Rob a chance to find out about methods used in the training of dogs for military purposes—as much as was permitted for a civilian to learn.

Shortly after they left Interlaken, Linda told Rob that there was a little inn which she wanted to visit. Some relative of hers had been there the year before and had asked Linda to look in and say hello and present a letter to the owner. "Do you mind?" she asked.

Rob Trenton shook his head. He would cheerefully have stayed days, weeks, or months at any place.

The inn turned out to be a neat little place and the proprietor, Rene Charteux, sad-eyed and courteous, took the letter Linda presented to him, seemed greatly moved by it and extended to Linda the hospitality of the place.

The little car, which had done so bravely during the journey, developed a leak in the radiator while standing in front of the inn, and Rene Charteux agreed to have a mechanic come and repair the car, while Rob and Linda looked around and enjoyed the beautiful scenery.

There had, he explained as he unloaded their baggage, been a tragedy in the family very recently. His good wife, who had been so friendly with Linda's aunt when she had been in the inn for several days during the preceding year, had passed away.

There was one other American guest, the proprietor told them. He showed the name scrawled on the register in forceful, masculine handwriting, Merton Ostrander, Los Angeles, California, U.S.A. There was no street address. Linda suggested a stroll.

M. Charteux, in his sad-eyed way, became enthusiastic over a very fine vista. It was, he explained in his perfect English, an easy climb and well worth it. Merton Ostrander frequently walked up this trail and made sketches.

So Rob and Linda started up the trail, and some half mile from the inn, came on a tall blond, clad in serviceable tweeds.

Ostrander showed surprise suddenly faced by the two Americans. Trenton extended his hand. "Mr. Livingstone, I presume."

"Stanley!" Ostrander exclaimed. "How the devil did you ever locate me?"

"Looked on the register of the inn," Linda Carroll said, laughing. "Despite the fact that you had registered under the alias of Merton Ostrander, we knew you."

"And do I have to go look at the register to find out your aliases, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley?" he asked.

"Not Mr. and Mrs.," she said. "I'm Linda Carroll, and this is Rob Trenton. We're the sole survivors of a foursome which was shattered on the rocks of business. My friends, Mr. and Mrs. Essex, were suddenly called back to the States . . . You're an artist?" she asked abruptly.

"Not an artist," Ostrander told her, "but I find I can capture what I want with a sketchbook better than with a camera. If you're interested in scenery," Ostrander went on affably, "I'll be only too glad to act as guide."

"We'd love to be guided," Linda said.

Merton Ostrander swung along with an easy stride. He commented on the tragedy at the inn. "The proprietor lost his wife just a few days ago. A most tragic occurrence. The woman had been picking native mushrooms all her life; but of late her eyes had been getting bad—that's the only way we can explain it."

"A toadstool?" Linda asked.

"Apparently a toadstool, and apparently only one, because she was the only one who felt any ill effects."

Ostrander made an uneasy motion with his shoulders. "I ate with them. There weren't many mushrooms, you understand, just a few, but I keep thinking of what would have happened—or what might have happened."

"Just the two of them in the family?" Linda asked.

"No, there's a daughter, Marie. She's only sixteen . . . How long are you intending to stay?"

"Just overnight. You've been here long?" Trenton asked.

"Several weeks," Ostrander said. "Are you by any chance an artist?" he asked Linda Carroll.

She shook her head firmly. "Like you, I sometimes try to catch scenery with a sketchbook. The sketches are so crude that they couldn't possibly convey meaning to anyone except me. I never let anyone see them . . . anyone."

"Fair enough," Merton Ostrander told her, and started piloting the way up the trail.

Nervous Trade Ends in Sharp Break; Prices Skid in Final-Hour Selling

By The Associated Press

Traders abruptly turned their backs on high prices yesterday and sent the New York Stock Market tumbling.

The market as a whole was substantially ahead until the final hour when prices started breaking in the heaviest trading of the day.

At the close there was a wide mixture of gains and losses with the accent on the downside.

[illegible] of the acute nervousness that has been apparent in the stock market since Saturday when things were upset by the MacArthur statement on the possibility of peace in Korea.

Total volume for the day was 1,250,000 shares as compared with 1,230,000 shares Monday.

Boeing, which reported a backlog of around $1,000,000,000 in orders in addition to highly favorable earnings last year, retreated 1 5-8 at 48.

MILD SELL-OFF

Prices declined in quiet trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange.

Trading most of the day was dull and the mild sell-off seemed to cause little attention. Activity continued its pre-Easter slow streak and volume was about 1,250,000 shares.

In industrials, declines ranged from fractions to more than a point. Steels, papers, agricultures, constructions, foods, refining oils, liquors and retail stores posted a majority of losses. Bank and manufacturing companies were higher and utilities and textiles were mixed.

Some of the bigger losers included Ford "A," Dominion Magnesium, Distillers-Seagrams, Canadian Celanese and Cockshutt.

NERVOUS TRADE

Consolidated Smelters dropped about $1 in the otherwise fractionally lower base metal section.

Western oils tended lower in fairly mixed trading. Home Oil stood out with a drop of about $1.

Golds eased as they continued their inactive trading of the last month. In the senior list Dome, Lake Shore and Wright Hargreaves dipped fractions and among junior producers Campbell, Prospectors Airways, MacLeod Cockshutt and Hedley declined pennies.

TRADING SLOW

In Montreal, trading continued slow and securities held firm to early losses near the close on the Stock Exchange and Curb Market.

Industrial issues were quoted fractions to a point or more lower after the long Easter lay-off. Losses predominated most major groups, with the bulk of them being narrow.

Papers, utilities, senior metals, senior oils, steels and beverages were down moderately. Carriers and textiles were mixed, but banks were unchanged. Constructions were more or less neglected.

Among major industrial losers was Montreal Tramways down 5 points to 60.

Mines settled in a narrowly irregular price path, following early easiness, and changes were generally pennies with no significant features. Western oils were mixed.

OILS ACTIVE

Oils were fairly active on the Vancouver Stock Exchange but eased off before the close while golds remained unchanged and base metals showed a weak trend.

Major oil changes were: Allied up .01 to 1.39; Calmont down .02 to 1.35; Del Rio down .04 to 1.22; and Home Oil down 1.00 to 16.00.

In the metals Sheep Creek was down .01 to 1.60 and Base Metals Mining was off .01 to .61.

GRAINS STRONG

All grain prices showed considerable strength during trading on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. The market was influenced by broad price increases on United States' markets which were brought on by unfavorable crop reports.

Good buying appeared in all commodities, with shipper demand appearing in oats and barley and American interest evident in rye. Processors and local houses were attracted to flax.

In overnight export loadings, India took 700,000 bushels of Canadian wheat; Belgium 230,000 bushels; Norway 100,000 bushels; and Switzerland 20,000 bushels.

Hudson Bay Gets Exploring Permit

REGINA, March 27 (CP).—Resources Minister J. H. Brockelbank today announced signing by the Provincial Government and the Hudson Bay Exploration and Development Co. of a concession agreement covering a 24-square-mile area six miles northwest of Flin Flon, Man.

The agreement, drawn up under the Mineral Resources Act, temporarily withdraws public prospecting and staking rights from the area in favor of the company. The agreement is effective for two years from March 1, 1951.

No Relation, Declares Home Oil of Home Oil

Rumors that Federated Petroleum may take over the Home Oil Company, Ltd., have nothing to do with Home Oil Distributors, Ltd., E. H. Teagle, general manager of the distributing company said yesterday.

He said "the general public sometimes confuses Home Oil Distributors, Ltd., with Home Oil Co., Ltd., the Alberta drilling company."

He said that Home Oil Distributors, Ltd., is "a 100 per cent British Columbia company engaged in distributing gasoline, motor oil and other petroleum products, through independent Home Gas dealers and has no connection whatsoever with Home Oil Co., Ltd."

Iceland Flies Entire Forest Across Ocean

NEW YORK, March 27 (NANA).—Beating Macbeth's imagination by a good margin—he merely thought he saw Birnam Wood moving upon him at Dunsinane—the Icelandic authorities have flown an entire forest across the Atlantic to their normally treeless island.

Too far to the north for much plant growth beyond lichens (Arctic moss) and yet anxious to cultivate agricultural areas where the winds are too strong to allow raising of cereals or even fodder crops, Icelandic agricultural officials three years ago began importing pines, firs, spruces and white-barked birches from northern Norway by sea and air.

Verdens Gang, an Oslo daily, also reports that Icelandic forestry students are being trained at Norwegian stations.

The program, aided by Marshall funds, is being speeded in face of a centuries-old spectre of famine. Eighty per cent of the 14th century population of Iceland perished when increasing coldness of the North Atlantic region and growing winds wiped out the island's trees and most of its agriculture. Today, the island economy is based on fishing; but the rich herring banks are showing serious signs of exhaustion—leading to more strenuous efforts to diversify the small republic's economy.

PORT ELIZABETH, South Africa (CP).—Because there have been no pawnbrokers' shops in this city for 18 years, people have been turning to jewelers to realize ready cash on their valuables. There's not enough profit to tempt jewelers to trade as pawnbrokers.

LONDON (CP)—More than 8,000 householders here have agreed to accept Festival of Britain visitors.

Pulp Industry

Woodlands Conference Opens for 700 Experts

MONTREAL, March 27 (CP).—Ways and means of best operating Canada's woodlands will be discussed tomorrow by 700 men, experts in their lines in the pulp and paper industry.

The occasion is the opening of the three-day annual meeting of the woodlands section of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association.

Foresters, woods managers, engineers and executives will attend the 33rd annual gathering of the section. An interesting feature will be the Canadian bucksaw championships, participated in by representatives of member companies.

The section is a scientific body sponsored by the association. The general chairman of the meeting will be Gordon Godwin, woods manager of the Ontario Paper Co., Ltd., Thorold, Ont., who is also chairman of the woodlands section.

W. A. E. Pepler, section manager, said papers will be presented on woods labor training, forest management and woods operations. There will also be group discussions on various subjects.

The general session on woods labor will include a panel discussion on supervisory training. The training of forest personnel in conservation measures will also be discussed.

In the forestry management session a fire-prevention program will be outlined, different cutting methods used in harvesting pulpwood will be described, and papers will be given on private forest land management representing school, municipal and farm wood lots and industry-owned and absentee-owned forests.

At the woods operating session a report on power saws will be given and developments in mechanical logging during the last year will be outlined.

GUEST SPEAKER

James Muir, Montreal, president of the Royal Bank of Canada, will be guest speaker at the annual luncheon, Wednesday.

Woodlands section awards will be presented at the luncheon to men in the industry who have made outstanding contributions in the fields of forestry research and woodlands operations during the year.

Following the luncheon there will be the regular business session at which Mr. Godwin will present his annual report, and election of the session's new officers for the coming year will be held.

Action Fast as Cougars Catch Up

Problem is to find puck during this second period action of Pacific Coast Hockey League semi-final play-off game between Victoria Cougars and Portland Eagles at Portland last night. Joe Evans (left foreground) is watching Larry Silvestri, who appears to be carrying puck behind Portland goal while Eddie Dorohoy (13) appears to be racing out with it to the left of the goal while checked by unidentified Portland player. Goalie Hec Highton watches anxiously. Other Victoria players are Geoff Burman (top centre) and Joe Medynski (right). Other Portland players are not identified.

—AP Wirephoto

Hal Tarala (2), Portland defenceman, falls on puck as two unidentified teammates stop Stan Long from following up on his shot during second period action. Andy Hebenton (8), waits vainly at right for loose puck. Highton is in front of goal. Highton continues to harass his ex-teammates in series, stopping 32 shots last night compared to 31 saves for Jerry Cotnoir as Cougars won in overtime to deadlock series at two games each. Fifth game will be played at Memorial Arena tomorrow with sixth game at Portland on Sunday and seventh, if necessary, at Victoria next Tuesday.

Cougars Win, 5-4, In Overtime Play To Square Series

By JIM TANG

PORTLAND, March 27.—Tony Hemmerling may have turned out to be a better prophet than he had ever hoped to be. Confronted before tonight's fourth game of the Pacific Coast Hockey League semi-finals between Victoria Cougars and Portland Eagles, the confident Portland coach said, "This is it."

And well it could be. Throughout the tense, wide-open and grueling game, there was always the feeling that the winner of this one would go into the final. And when Joe Medynski slipped the puck past Hec Highton after six minutes and 19 seconds of overtime to give the Cougars a 5-4 triumph, it also gave them the series edge.

The best-of-seven series is now a two-of-three affair and the odds would seem to be with the Victorians, who will have the deciding game on home ice if it goes to the limit. This could easily be the vital factor, although the clubs each won their first two games away from home.

LAST BREAK TO CATS

It was a tough one to lose. Both teams had bad luck and a lot of good luck. But the last break went to the Cougars and it came in the sudden-death play which gave the Eagles no chance to recoup after they had four times tied the score, the last time with 20 seconds left.

Overtime opened with the Cougars on the attack and spoiling several good chances with overanxiousness. After four minutes in which play was almost all in the Portland zone, the Eagles broke out with a lone Cougar back.

Joe Culman got a pass in the clear and his blazing shot had Jerry Cotnoir well beaten but hit the post at the crossbar and bounded directly in front of the Cougar goal. Hal Hopper came excruciatingly close to becoming the overtime hero for the third time when he fanned with a quick slap as he cut in fast.

POINT-BLANK SHOT

Shortly afterward, Fiori Goegan, who has turned in two solid defensive performances in his last two games, broke down the left boards and fought his way into the Portland zone. Medynski came out of the resulting mixup in front of the Portland goal, beat one Eagle and then slipped the puck past Highton from point-blank range.

The game was wide-open in contrast to the previous contests. The Eagles were obviously sent out to play the Cougars at their own game and both clubs bumped hard. Cougars came out best in the checking, slowing down the speedier Eagles with bone-wracking bumps.

BEST YET

Coach Roger Leger outdid all previous performances by playing the greatest hockey seen in the league, particularly in the third period when he was on the ice for 18 minutes and scored what should have been the winning goal. Leger played the last 14 minutes without relief, broke up dozens of Portland sallies and paced the Cougars on attack.

Two needless penalties by Stan Long cost Cougars victory in regulation time. Portland tied the count at 3-3 while Long was off for interfering with a Portland player after play had left the Cougar zone. Leger then put the Cougars ahead for the fourth time and Long drew another penalty for elbowing with Cougars holding the play.

SIX ATTACKERS

Portland sent six forwards out on attack. Leger broke up one thrust and just missed the open Portland goal with a long shot but on the return rush Walt Samanski scored through a maze of players to send the game into overtime.

Another bright spot for the Cougars was the play of the Kid Line which turned in its best performance of the series. A standout was Bob Abbott, who assisted on three of the goals and was always a threat with his sparkling passes.

Several of the goals were of the lucky variety. Cougars opened the scoring when Andy Hebenton cut behind the goal-line to the left of the Portland goal and his passout deflected off Highton's skate into the net. The Eagles equalized for the first time when Bill Hartsburg's clearing shot deflected off Eddie Mazur's legs onto Frank Kubasek's stick. Kubasek's shot was deflected in by Harisburg but Jim Fairburn and Hal Tarala drew assists on the play.

Cougars went ahead again with the prettiest goal of the game when Abbott cut over the blueline, took Hebenton's pass and relayed to Bob Frampton, who beat Highton easily. Loose defensive play permitted the Eagles to tie it up again.

After Cotnoir had made two brilliant saves, Victoria broke away but the play was apparently stopped. Mazur batted the puck from the blueline but Highton played it carelessly and Jack McIntyre cut in front to flip in the rebound.

Cougars had all the edge in the third period and after Long's first penalty had permitted the Eagles to tie the count for the third time, Geoff Burman made a shot which definitely appeared to go in, hitting the back bar and coming out again. The goal judge ruled no goal and after a protest by the Cougars the goal judge was changed but no goal was allowed.

Richard Saves Opener for Canadiens With Goal in Fourth Overtime Period

DETROIT, March 28 (Wednesday) (CP). — Maurice Richard rammed in a goal after 61:09 minutes of sudden-death overtime play in the early morning hours today to bring Montreal Canadiens a 3-2 victory over Detroit Red Wings in a gruelling marathon that opened their Stanley Cup National Hockey League play-off series before 13,246 fans here.

Richard's brilliant unassisted tally came at 1:10 a.m., just after the fourth overtime period started. The Rocket intercepted a Detroit pass and sped past the Detroit defence with a blazing burst of speed. Alone in front of the net, he paused before lining a ten-footer past Terry Sawchuk.

Richard's play ended a gripping duel between leg-weary athletes, which had provided customers with repeated thrills. Despite the numerous overtime periods, play in the extra sessions had been wide open, with goalies in starring roles.

LEAD TWICE

Both teams had scored once in the first period, and once more in the third period previously. Gordie Howe and Leo Reise connected when Wings twice went into the lead. Butch Bouchard and Bert Olmstead counted with the tying goals.

The first period was a strange one. The Canadiens stayed strictly on defence the first 20 minutes, getting only one shot, but that was Bouchard's looper over Sawchuk's shoulder. Detroit, always on the offensive, got in 14 shots with Howe tallying on Leo Reise's rebound.

When the Canadiens switched tactics at the start of the second period, Detroit was caught off stride. Montreal became the offensive pace-setters, yet it was the Wings who scored next.

Richard and Ted Lindsay were in the penalty box serving two of the five penalties Referee Bill Chadwick called, when Reise drove home Sid Abel's passout.

HIGH, SHORT

Montreal evened it 11 minutes before regulation time ended as Olmstead took Richard's rebound, whirled and lifted a high shot in from a five-foot range.

Only the brilliance of goalies Sawchuk and Gerry McNeil kept the overtime going as long as it did. There were numerous good shooting chances, including breakaways by Richard and Cal MacKay for Montreal.

In the 121 minutes of play, Sawchuk made 42 saves, 22 in overtime. McNeil faced much tenser pressure, stopping 38 of his 62 saves in the extra periods.

Richard's dramatic finish upset form in this game, for which the Wings were strong favorites. Detroit reigns a 3-1 choice in the series against Montreal and an odds-on favorite to retain the Stanley Cup.

Montreal now carries a 1-0 lead in the best-of-seven series which will continue here Thursday.

SUMMARY

Montreal—McNeil; Johnson, Bouchard; Lach; Olmstead, Richard. Subs: Harvey, MacPherson, Harmon, Mosdell, Curry, MacKay, Reay, Geoffrion, Mazzoli, Meger, Kaiser, McNabney.

Detroit—Sawchuk; Kelly, Reise, Gee, Pavelich, Peters. Subs: Goldham, Martin, Pronovost, Abel, Lindsay, Howe, Skov, Couture, Stewart, McFadden, Glover, McNab.

First Period—1, Detroit, Howe (Reise, Abel) 12:15; 2, Montreal, Bouchard (McNabney) 13:25. Penalties: Harvey.

Second Period—Scoring none. Penalties: McNabney, Goldham, Richard, Lindsay.

Third Period—3, Detroit, Reise (Abel, Howe) 1:16; 4, Montreal, Olmstead (Richard, Lach) 9:08.

First, Second and Third Overtime Periods—Scoring none. Penalties: none.

Fourth Overtime Period—5, Montreal, Richard, 1:09.

Patrick Faces Twin Jinx In N.H.L. Series Opener

TORONTO, March 27 (CP).—Lynn Patrick faces a double jinx as he leads his Boston Bruins into Toronto tomorrow for the opener of their best-of-seven Stanley Cup semi-final against the Maple Leafs.

In two seasons as a National Hockey League Coach—one with New York Rangers—Patrick's charges haven't been able to beat the Leafs on Toronto ice. The closest they came was a 2-2 tie the Bruins achieved this season.

However, the past performance chart offers one ray of hope for Patrick. Last year his Rangers beat Detroit Red Wings in one of the two Stanley Cup finals they played on Toronto ice when the circus orphaned them from Madison Square Garden.

NOT SO BAD

The second jinx, which applies to the Bruins as a team, isn't as complete as Patrick's as a coach. In eight meetings in Stanley Cup playoffs with the Leafs, the Bruins won out only twice—in the final in 1939 and in the semi-final in 1941.

The Boston chances in the current series depend largely on the aging legs of veteran Milt Schmidt, a key figure in the 1939 and 1941 successes. Still one of hockey's greatest competitors despite his 33 years, Schmidt goes into the series with a shaky knee. That's small comfort for the Leafs, who have seen him play bruising playoff hockey before now despite painful injuries.

BOLD WORKOUT

The Leafs themselves aren't selling their opponents short. They went through a brisk workout today at their training centre at St. Catharines, Ont.

General manager Conn Smythe said his club would be at top strength for the opening game except for left-winger Harry Watson, out of action with a shoulder separation.

Smythe sized up the series like this: "I said a while ago the Bruins are an even-money choice in this thing and I still think they are."

He disclosed also that rookie Al Rollins would be the Leafs' starting goaltender with veteran Turk Broda in reserve.

John Marshall, Yale's swimming ace from Australia, Saturday night improved two of his own world record performances — the 400-metres and the 440-yard free style.

Nanaimo Entry Approved

VANCOUVER, March 27 (CP).—Nanaimo Native Sons tonight were admitted to the Intercity Lacrosse League on a "trial basis," the same way Victoria Shamrocks gained a franchise last season.

Decision was made at a league meeting and it was announced that Nanaimo's dispute over distribution of gate receipts had been settled. Details were not disclosed.

Lloyd Steele, Native Sons' coach, revealed he was dickering with two lacrosse stars from St. Catharines, Ont., and said they would likely play for the Island team this season. He said they were Nip O'Hearn, who plays hockey in the Winter, and Gerry Fitzgerald.

Marylebone Cricket Club Coming Here August 26

SUNDAY, August 26, has been set as the date for the appearance of the Marylebone Cricket Club in Victoria, it was announced last night by Bill Anders of the Victoria and District Cricket Association.

Anders stated that the M.C.C. would arrive on the Vancouver boat early in the morning and would play an all-day match against an all-star Victoria XI at Beacon Hill, starting at 10 a.m.

The M.C.C. will remain in Victoria the following day and will be entertained by the V.D.C.A. and taken on a tour of the lower Island. Special committees have been formed to look after finances and entertainment.

Further details will be announced later.

English Cricketers Gain Lead Over New Zealand

WELLINGTON, N.Z., March 27 (Reuters).—England gained a first-innings lead of 102 over New Zealand in the second cricket Test match here today, and led by 70 runs with one New Zealand second-innings wicket down at the close of play.

England brought its overnight first-innings score of 42 for three to 227 in reply to New Zealand's 125. New Zealand had 32 for one wicket in the second innings. The match ends Wednesday.

Len Hutton with 57 and Freddie Brown with 47 put on 71 for England's fifth wicket, and an eighth-wicket partnership between Trevor Valley with 29 and Alec Bedser with 28 added 43.

George Cresswell, 35-year-old, right-arm inswing bowler, had the best New Zealand bowling figures with three for 16. Tom Burtt, left-arm spinner, claimed three for 46.

Roy Tattersall, Lancashire off-spin bowler, took Bert Sutcliffe's wicket in the New Zealand second innings before bad light brought play to an end five minutes early.

Mercurys End Protest On Playdowns

EDMONTON, March 27 (CP). — Art Potter, vice-president of the Alberta branch of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, announced today that Edmonton Mercurys will meet Nanaimo Clippers at the West Coast in the Allan Cup playdowns as previously scheduled.

The best-of-five series had been subject of a protest by Mercurys, who sought two games on home ice. Previously Coach Jimmy Graham said the club would not make the trip if all games were to be played at the Coast.

First game is scheduled in Vancouver, Friday night.

Jim Christiansen, sponsor of Mercurys, said the complete team will make the trip and will leave Edmonton Thursday morning.

Tillicums Win Crown In Penticton

Tillicums captured the British Columbia Intermediate "B" boys' basketball championship by defeating Penticton, 49-30, in the second game of their two-game total-point series at Penticton last night. The Clubmen won the series, 98-57.

Starting the game with a 22-point edge, as a result of their 49-27 win in the final game, Tillicums outplayed and out-scored the Penticton club in every quarter. They outscored the losers, 14-5, in the first quarter, 15-8 in the second, 13-11 in the third and 8-6 in the final frame.

Len Anderson again paced Tillicums. He led the scorers during the first game with 14 points and was high man in the second contest with 18 points. Ted Saunders added 15 for the winners.

Line-ups follow:

Tillicums—Anderson 18, Davies 3, Hampton 2, Jackson 1, Saunders 15, Veitch 8, Windle 2, Stewart, Total, 49.

Play-Offs Oust Royal-Maroon Junior Final

The junior hockey final between Royals and Maroons for the Oddfellows' Trophy, which was previously scheduled for this evening, has been postponed owing to Commercial Hockey League play-offs. It will be played at a later date.

The Vancouver Canuck bantams will meet the Victoria All-Stars in the first game of a two-game total-goal series for the Coast championship this afternoon at Memorial Arena at 4 o'clock. Second game in the series will be played at 8 a.m. Thursday.

Cubs took a one-game lead in the city bantam championships by defeating Bruins, 3-2, yesterday. The first game in the best-of-three series ended in a tie. Eddie Kowalyk, Doug Jones and Bob Caldwell scored for the Cubs and Robert Large and Joe Brockman replied for Bruins.

In the pee-wee division Royals trounced Cubs, 5-1. Dallas Lansdale scored twice while Barry Youell, Bob Ellison and Ken Leibel tallied singletons for the Royals. Jim Campbell counted for Cubs.

Sixth Game To Be Held At Portland

Attempts to have the balance of the Pacific Coast Hockey League semi-finals between Victoria Cougars and Portland Eagles played at Memorial Arena fell through last night when the Portland management decided it wanted the sixth game on home ice.

Fifth game of the best-of-seven series, which is now tied 2-2, will be played at Victoria tomorrow with the sixth at Portland Sunday. If a seventh game is necessary it will be played at Victoria next Tuesday.

If Portland had consented to the proposed change, the series would have wound up with games at Victoria tomorrow, Friday and Tuesday.

REJECT OFFER

Salmon tendermen of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union (TLC) have rejected a $14 to $20 monthly wage increase offer from the salmon canners operating committee, it was reported from Vancouver yesterday.

The offer would have raised cook-deckhands $14 from $156 a month and given a $20 boost to skippers who now make $270.

Homer Stevens, official of UFAWU, said the 500 salmon tendermen on the British Columbia coast wanted a monthly boost of $30 plus a 10-cent hourly increase in supplementary wage rates.

The union also requested a union hiring privilege in the 1951 contract but the operators are understood to be opposed to the demand.

Shoreworker locals of the UFAWU now are in conciliation with the operators in their efforts to get at least a 30-cent boost in hourly wage rates.

They have rejected an offer which would have given a six-cent hourly boost to some, eight cents to men with a cost of living clause of one cent for every 1.3 rise in the index.

Guard Rails To Be Built Along Lake

Guard rails will be erected this year on the Port Alberni Highway at danger points around Cameron Lake, it was learned yesterday from officials of the Public Works Department.

A coroner's jury last month recommended erection of the rails after a car skidded into the lake taking three persons to their deaths.

Department officials said a report was being received from the resident engineer prior to action being taken.

Famous Canadian Artist May Paint Island Scenes

ONE of Canada's best known artists may be on Vancouver Island soon in search of "paintable subjects."

The Victoria Chamber of Commerce reports that a friend of Arthur Lismer, one of Canada's world-famed "Group of Seven," has written asking the chamber for direction to resorts where the artist can find beautiful scenery that is easily accessible.

He says he did all the roughing he needs to do in his early days, the request stated. The letter said the artist had heard areas in Sooke, Comox and the Albernis might be particularly "paintable."

The Reliable Evaporated Milk
The producers of fine Carnation Milk accept only high grade, pure, whole cows' milk. Just water is removed in the evaporation process. The milk with the red and white Carnation label is always velvet-smooth, rich-flavored — so safe and so dependable.
Good for Baby— Good for Everybody
Millions of contented babies are fed Carnation. Ask your doctor about Carnation Milk for your baby. It's the milk every doctor knows.
And whenever you use Carnation Milk — undiluted in place of cream or diluted half and half with water for every whole milk use — note its unvarying richness, superlative uniformity, and delicious creaminess.

PROFITABLE SALT BEDS

STOCKHOLM (CP)—Subterranean salt beds in southern Sweden have been subjected to test borings and it is estimated they will produce 108,000 tons annually, including 60,000 tons of common salt and 48,000 tons of rock salt.

Levy Imposed on Snow

LONDON, March 27 (AP). — How much is a ton of snow worth?

His Majesty's Customs and Excise Department figures £3 6s 8d ($10).

Thirty Norwegian skiers who packed 80 tons of the fine white stuff into boxes say it isn't worth a penny.

The question came up when the Ski Club of Britain and the British Central Council of Physical Education invited the Norwegian skiers to come to London for some ski jumping.

But please bring your own snow, the skiers were asked.

The skiers agreed.

In the meantime Customs and Excise got in touch with the secretary of the committee running the show.

The Customs and Excise agents dug up a copy of the Import Duty Act of 1932. This imposes a duty of 10 per cent by value on all but a few imported goods. Snow is not one of the exceptions.

The committee, said the agents, should expect to pay about £20 to £30 duty.

The snow, when it eventually gets through customs, will be packed on an artificial jump.

Tireman Says R.F.C. Blocks Synthetic Plant

WASHINGTON, March 27 (AP).—William O'Neil, president of the General Tire and Rubber Company, testified today he has a low-cost process that would solve the synthetic rubber shortage but can't get the United States Government to agree to use it.

The rubber is now being produced at the Canadian Government's Polymer Corp. plant at Sarnia.

O'Neil told a Senate small business committee "fuddy duddy lawyers" in the Reconstruction Finance Corporation have refused to come to terms on the process. The R.F.C. administers the synthetic rubber program.

He suggested that one explanation might be that "they (R.F.C.) spent hundreds of millions in research and are a little bit ashamed" at what he termed a lack of progress in synthetic rubber.

O'Neil insisted that his process could provide an almost immediate 22-per-cent increase in synthetic rubber supplies in the United States.

He said his company is producing the rubber in Canada now because it found "the Government there more reasonable."

Sooke Student Gets Certificate

A scholarship certificate in recognition of her winning the Charlesworth Memorial Award in 1950 was presented to the daughter of a Sooke school teacher Monday night at the B.C. Teachers' Federation convention in Vancouver.

Recipient was Isabel Harwood Helgesen, daughter of Mrs. M. I. Helgesen, principal of Metchosin Elementary School, Sooke.

The award, a $100 scholarship to the son or daughter of a federation member, honors the late Harry Charlesworth, past general secretary of the federation.

Miss Helgesen graduated from St. Margaret's School here last June and was presented with the money last Autumn. She now is attending Victoria College in preparation for taking a nursing degree.

WOUNDED GET BOOKS

LONDON (CP).—More than 2,000 books, plus magazines, have been sent to a service hospital in Kure, Japan, by the British Red Cross and St. John Hospital Library Department for use of British servicemen wounded in Korea.

LONDON, March 27 (CP)—A long queue fo housewives was waiting patiently in a suburban Richmond butcher shop for their weekly ration of meat.

A woman brushed past the line and with a long knife cut about four pounds from a carcass hanging near the door. She tossed the meat and knife into her shopping bag and nonchalantly stalked out.

There was a stunned silence.

"Aren't you going to chase her?" asked a customer.

"Chase her?" snorted the butcher, "and leave all of you alone in the shop?"

The time used is Pacific Standard for the 120th Meridian west. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the tables the tide rises or falls continuously during intervening times between the high and low waters as given. 0.6 must be subtracted from the heights in this table to conform with the datum of soundings on the charts of the locality.

Cut-Rate Big Game Hunting Safaris Latest Diversion for Modest Purse

FRANKFURT, March 27 (INS).—North Americans in Europe soon may swathe their lady loves in rich leopard furs—even line their convertibles with real zebra hides—and not go broke doing it.

If they can boast at least two friends with $300 apiece and are willing to chip in the same amount, they can sign up for luxury two-week safaris in darkest Africa and return with skins and trophies galore.

Cut-rate big game hunting, once the exclusive sport of kings, princes and other Eastern and Western potentates, is the latest addition to the scores of diversions available in Europe since the end of the war.

It is made possible through a newly-launched co-operative venture of a group of safari companies in Africa and the romantic-sounding "British East African Professional White Hunters' Association."

For an all-inclusive $850 (including air transportation from Frankfurt-on-Main to Nairobi, Kenya Colony, Africa) for a minimum party of three, anyone who has the money and stamina for a week on the trail can now get away from civilization.

For an additional $100 each, the entire two weeks can be devoted to hunting. Members of the pilot venture who just returned to Germany said two weeks would ensure a full and valuable "bag."

LICENCES VARY

African hunting licences vary from a "package" price of $38 for some 20 different types of game, to a special "a la carte" system, entitling the hunter to bag one species for a set price. That's currently $50 for a rhino and $150 for an elephant, whose tusks usually cover the cost of the trip.

Apart from the cost of hunting licences, the hunter's every whim is amply provided for, from personal portable baths to tents, bedding, radio, first-aid equipment and food.

Hunters have personal gunbearers and servants, a bevy of native cooks, porters and even game-skinners at their beck and call.

They also have the services of professional white hunters to take them to the richest hunting areas.

Experts say that—with any luck—two weeks on the trail should give hunters a shot at "everything" on the extensive African game "menu."

Turner, Uphill Deliver Swats at Government

IN THE LEGISLATURE

Agriculture Minister Harry Bowman and Maurice Finnerty (Cln., Similkameen) will continue the budget debate at 7:30 p.m. today in the Legislature. A night sitting is planned to hear addresses by Randolph Harding (C.C.F., Kaslo-Slocan) and H. J. Walsh (Cln., Comox).

By [illegible]

Arthur Turner (C.C.F., Vancouver East) scattered a few Government feathers around the House yesterday and Thomas Uphill (Labor, Fernie) tickled funnybones as usual.

The C.C.F.-er was critical of what he called Government refusal to open the Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act and the Workmen's Compensation Act.

JOSLIN

The veteran Labor member stated he had been asked by a lady friend, "of which I have many," to bring up the question of the color ban on margarine.

British Columbia's Labor Act, contrary to the opinion expressed last week by Labor Minister John Cates, was only second-best and not the best in Canada, according to Mr. Turner. In Saskatchewan, he said, labor was not asking for any changes, while in B.C. labor was asking 50 changes in an 80-section act.

The member insisted the Government could make interim increases in benefits under the Workmen's Compensation Act which would bring payments more in line with the cost of living.

A parliamentary committee, including at least two Cabinet Ministers, should be forced to live on $50 a month, "and then we'd see what kind of a report they'd bring in," said Mr. Turner.

TIME WASTED

The Pernie member contended women should not have their time eaten up messing around with margarine coloring paraphernalia, when margarine "can be colored at the factory with no trouble to anybody."

"It is about time this House got down to considering the consumer and removed the color ban on margarine," he declared.

Mr. Turner wanted to know why it was that the Minister of Finance was not influenced by the salesmanship of Trade and Industry Minister Leslie Eyres since the stand of both ministers was that natural resources should be developed.

B.C. SHOULD ACT

Refering to the 30-year refusal of big Eastern steel interests to have anything to do with B.C., Mr. Turner declared that if private enterprise wouldn't come into the Province "until it is good and ready," the Government itself should take steps to establish industry.

The C.C.F. member admitted that Finance Minister Herbert Anscomb was a successful wine merchant. In view of the statement he made in his budget address that people who haven't "climbed" are improvident and shiftless, the Finance Minister should add tripe to his wares, argued Mr. Turner.

PAY MOST

The Government derived most of its income from people who hadn't climbed, asserted Mr. Turner.

"Give them a decent standard of living, but don't insult them because they haven't climbed like a successful businessman," he declared.

The Provincial Liquor Act should be placed on the same basis as the Hospital Insurance Act, said Mr. Uphill, "then when you wanted a bottle you would go and get it."

"I would be willing to sacrifice myself on the altar to work the plan out," he added.

DEFEAT LIKELY

Plebiscites for changes in the Liquor Act would be defeated by prohibitionists, bootleggers and club interests, he predicted.

After pleading for a cost-of-living bonus for civil servants, state medicine and an easing of divorce laws, Mr. Uphill looked at the clock and turned to the Speaker, Mrs. Nancy Hodges.

"I don't think I'll bore you any more," he said. "It is my time to go out and have a cup of tea. God bless you."

. . . NOR GLOOM OF NIGHT

Building Will Open Next Month

The new Provincial Government building under construction on Government Street across from the Legislative Buildings is to be called "The Douglas Building."

Public Works Minister E. C. Carson declared in the Legislature yesterday it is planned to open the building about the middle of April.

The building is being named in honor of Sir James Douglas, first governor of the Crown Colony of British Columbia, who originally owned the land on which the new building is located.

EIGHT DEPARTMENTS

Mr. Carson said the $1,485,000 building will house the Mines, Education, Fisheries, Municipal Affairs, Agriculture, Trade and Industry, Public Works and Railway Departments of the Government.

Outstanding in the $3,695,350 public building program for the coming year are a new laundry building at Essondale, a dairy building at Essondale Colony Farm, a 100-bed T.B. unit at Essondale, a 100-bed nurses' home at New Westminster, a boys' training school at Wellington, a laboratory building in Vancouver, and an office building and addition to the court house at Nanaimo.

PROJECTS FINISHED

The Public Works Minister said that during 1950-51 nineteen building contracts were completed at a total cost of $1,611,976. The projects included the new administration building for the Hospital Insurance Service, erected on Michigan Street.

At the University of British Columbia, two sections of the biological science building and one section of the applied science building were completed at a total cost of $1,231,312.

A total of 16 large buildings are still under construction, under contracts awarded during the year, or earlier, at a total estimated cost of $6,223,380.

B.C. Plans to Spend $17,500,000 on Roads

British Columbia will spend more than $17,500,000 for construction of roads and bridges during the coming year, Public Works Minister E. C. Carson told the Legislature yesterday.

Also scheduled for construction in 1951-52 are none public buildings estimated to cost $3,695,350.

Of the highways appropriation, nearly $6,000,000 is to be spent on the Trans-Canada Highway. Tenders are to be called for construction and reconstruction of 32 miles of highway at an estimated cost of $4,555,000 and eight bridges are to be replaced at an estimated cost of $822,000.

New highway work, exclusive of the Trans-Canada Highway, to be undertaken in the coming year is expected to cost $6,700,000.

RECONSTRUCTION

In addition, said Mr. Carson, "a considerable amount of reconstruction work" will be carried out on local roads which provide connections to the main trunk system.

"The implementation of the Goldenberg Report has resulted in numerous requests from cities for improvements to arterial highways within the city limits," declared Mr. Carson. "This will result in the expenditure of large sums to provide necessary storm drainage, curbs and gutters, and extensive paving which facilities were not enjoyed by the cities when the control of these streets was the responsibility of the local authorities."

NEW OUTLET

An outline of the proposed highway program, which the Public Works Minister referred to during his address, indicated negotiations would continue for purchase of the right-of-way for a new Island Highway outlet from Victoria to Langford. Proposed route of the right of way, which is to replace the twisting, tortuous Gorge-Colwood outlet, was not announced.

The paving program calls for work on 280 miles of highway at an estimated cost of $3,000,000.

During the coming year the Province will spend $8,350,000 on maintenance of highways and bridges. Snow removal is estimated to cost $1,000,000 in 1951-52.

HEAVY EQUIPMENT

Mr. Carson noted that the Legislature had earmarked $1,000,000 to the equipment fund for the purchase of heavy snow ploughing and maintenance equipment.

"We are hoping this amount will meet our requirements for some time to come," he said.

He explained it was felt the department should request a further loan for heavy equipment before controls came into effect.

"With the anticipated completion of the Hart Highway (Prince George to Dawson Creek) during the coming fiscal year, additional heavy snow ploughing equipment and maintenance equipment will be required," said the minister.

MORE THAN HALF

During the past year, 27.5 miles of the John Hart Highway have been completed, leaving 24.5 miles of the contract to complete.

[illegible] remaining work could be completed in the coming year. He also looked for construction of the $350,000 steel and concrete bridge across Parsnip River.

In addition to new construction, 55 miles of unimproved roads south of Dawson Creek still must be standardized, according to Mr. Carson.

ACCEPTED

He said that during the past year the Public Works Department accepted 215 miles of the Hart Highway from the contractors "which it was necessary for the Department to maintain."

Progress has been made on the policy of replacing bridges with culverts and fills wherever possible, said Mr. Carson.

World Events May Cut Provincial Road Plans

Events on the international scene may prevent the Government from carrying out in entirety its announced road program in the coming year, Public Works Minister E. C. Carson stated yesterday in the Legislature.

"We are not altogether the final arbiters in this matter any more than is the National Government," he declared. "We are essentially governed by the international scene and the manner in which it affects the people of Canada as a whole."

Mr. Carson said it was planned "to carry forward such plans as are possible in the people's interest, since to stop all enterprise would simply constitute a submission to Communist warfare."

SIGNS GO UP

Highway signs are being erected by crews of two fully equipped sign trucks which are carrying on work throughout the whole province, Mr. Carson said.

"The directional signing has progressed very favorably and consideration is now being given to reflectorizing the more important of these signs in order that they may be more discernible at night time to the traveling public," he said.

A new route marker to identify main trunk highways has been established and will be erected during the coming year, he added.

"Using two modern, high-capacity painting units, a total of 780 miles of reflectorized centre line painting was carried out during the year," said the Minister. "This program brings the total miles of highways so treated to 1,000. The mileage will rapidly increase as our paving program increases."

Watch Switch Brings Probe By City Police

Victoria police are investigating two youths who they believe tried to work a "switch" of a useless watch for more valuable merchandise Monday at a city jewelry store.

E. A. McLeod told police the two youths exchanged an old watch for a better model on an approval basis, at his store at 1111 Douglas Street.

When the pair left the store, Mr. McLeod said he picked up a valuable diamond ring which they evidently had dropped on the way out.

The youths said they would return, and gave names and addresses, which police are checking.

To Rest

The Easter Bunny has been put away for another year, to rest on his laurels and the assurance that many youngsters, young and old, were made a little happier through the everlasting traditions of Easter.

Maybe to the staff it was a lot of hard work but they were happy in it.

OTTAWA AGREES!

Report of the Royal Commission on Transportation, compiled after two years' survey, and tabled this week in the House of Commons, Ottawa, states:

"The day of ill-conceived and therefore excessive construction seems to have gone by, and our people can feel reasonably assured that from now on no railway ventures will be undertaken excepting after thorough investigation of each project and always with due regard to the financial commitments involved."

This is precisely what we, on behalf of ourselves and all the other taxpayers of B. C., have been trying to get our Provincial Government to do before voting more millions for a southern rail extension of the P. G. E.

In the light of this report we respectfully repeat our suggestion that an impartial body be set up to thoroughly investigate and report on the economic soundness of the P. G. E. southern rail extension program.

No Hands...

If you should look out your window some sunny day, and see a guy flying . . . along the highway; with his daughter behind, clinging to his coat, & she too . . . with the wind in her throat; yes . . . if this girl's bike you should suddenly see, you'll know the riders are Trudie & me. And you'll also know, if us you've spied, I've been trying to teach her . . . how to ride . . . But I get fed-up, weary each shin . . . so I jump on myself, & we go for a spin. She clings to the seat, with her legs dangling loose, I pump on the pedals to give it the juice. It's a corny arrangement & unladylike, but the best you can do . . . with a girl's bike. At times it's fun, & I get a real thrill, when we start from our house, on top of a hill; because I can coast, which is just my style, & we go like the dickens for about a half mile. She screams with excitement & hangs on tight, as yapping dogs, we dodge in our flight; I'm happy again, & choked with joy, I'm no longer a Daddy, but again, just a boy. On ANOTHER hill, & it's bitter-sweet, I'm delivering the Colonist down Yates Street. Flinging the news &

each merchant's Ad, the first war was on, & the news mostly bad. 'Twas around six-thirty, on a lovely Spring morn, on my handle-bars I'd clamped a long shiny horn. Which had cost me a buck, but did greatly excel, all the other kids had . . . was a small squeaky bell. Up View I'd pumped, then crossed thru the school, & I guess on the way, I often did fool. Like riding thru puddles after the rain, then circling about, and going thru again. At the top of the hill, I could see the town, in the middle of the road, I went flying down. Riding NO HANDS, flinging left & right, each thud 'gainst a door, to fill with delight. Telling me . . . as I gathered steam, 'tho I couldn't see, I was right on the beam. Even allowing for curves, the wind & my speed, as on the door-mat I took a fast bead. Then I flung the last, & skimmed over Cook, I turned about with a smirky look. No need had there been, by tire to scorch, not ONE had gone, on the other guy's porch. And NOTHING since then, has given such bliss, as my boyhood satisfaction of accomplishing this. Except, perhaps, some have called my bluff, & have actually bothered to read this stuff. So as a reward I think I should mention, & bring once again to their attention; that we have mattresses, known as "Leaders" for just 35 dollars for all our six readers. These are springfilled, with damask ticking, jam full of coils that will take any licking. They are made by SIMMONS, carloads we got, so get one today if yours is all shot. "Watcha doin'?" screamed Trudie, from where she sat, "watcha waving your arms . . . crazy like that. And for Heaven's sakes, we'll both see stars, if you don't keep your grip on the handle-bars." "What's that you're saying . . . Gee . . . feel that air, why I almost forgot . . . that you were there." "Well . . . I am back here, & just look at my skirt, I gotta get off . . . oh, my legs hurt. It's my turn now, stay close beside, you promised you know, to teach me to ride." As I silently watched her wobbly capers, I wished that girls could deliver the paper. 'Cause she sat on the seat, amazed were both pans, "Lookit, Dad," she "hollered . . . NO HANDS . . . NO HANDS!"

Dan Dailey to Discuss Movie On Life of Pitcher Dizzy Dean

HEARD IN HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, March 27 (INS)—Dan Dailey leaves the Menninger Clinic the last of the week for home. [illegible] will report to the studio next week. Although he won't start to work for six weeks, he goes on salary immediately.

He'll discuss his next picture, "The Dizzy Dean Story," with Jules Schermer, his producer, and Lloyd Bacon, the director. Dan will play Dizzy Dean, the famous St. Louis Cardinal baseball player who is now [illegible]

Dizzy and his brother, Daffy, were known as two of the most colorful and eccentric baseball players of all time. Dean's real name is Jerome Herman, and Daffy's, Paul.

KAYE REHEARSES

Danny Kaye showed up on the M-G-M lot, Monday, to start eight weeks of dance rehearsals with Gene Kelly for "Huckleberry Finn." While Danny's learning to make his feet spin as fast as his tongue, director Vince Minnelli goes to New Orleans to shoot some Mark Twain atmosphere along the Mississippi.

Bob Hope cracked at the Happy Chandler dinner that he had Danny [illegible] permission to go to the London Palladium for a stint. "It's Danny's other home," said Hope.

Danny, himself, goes to London—where they adore the guy—as soon as he finishes the Arthur Freed picture.

SURE HIT

Judy Garland is just going to knock 'em dead in London—of that I'm sure. She previewed her whole Palladium program at a party which Ruth Waterbury gave in honor of Judy and Buddy Pepper. Buddy goes along to play the piano with a 32-piece orchestra. Roger Eden, who arranged Judy's program, has included all her old hits, "Trolley Song," "Over the Rainbow," "The Boy Next Door," etc.

After Judy sang, Lou Busch played the whole beautiful score of "The King." It was really a very nice evening with Margaret Whiting, Gertrude Niesen and Jack Smith all taking part.

Norma and Burt Lancaster were an appreciative audience and Burt said when Judy finished singing, "That Judy has nothing but genius!"

BACK TO EUROPE

For the first time since he fled in 1933, after Hitler came into power, Oscar Homolka goes to Europe. He'll appear this Summer at the Salzburg Festival in Austria in "The Broken Pitcher" by Kleist.

Homolka will then go to Germany where he was once a great star. Well, he hasn't done too badly in the U.S.A. on both stage and screen. His performance as Uncle Chris in "I Remember Mama" is one of the all-time classics.

Uncle Wiggily Story

By Howard Garis

BIG SNOWBALL

Uncle Wiggily awakened in his hollow stump bungalow and had a happy feeling. He sat up in bed and twinkled his pink nose.

"I wonder why I feel so happy?" the rabbit gentleman said to himself. "I have such a jolly feeling as if something very pleasant had happened to me. It could not have been a happy dream. Ah, I know what it is. Today is the second day of Spring and I have a new red, white and blue suit to wear. Hurray!"

Then, jumping out of bed, Uncle Wiggily hopped to the head of the stairs and called:

"Nurse Jane! Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy! Is breakfast ready?"

"Not yet," answered the muskrat lady housekeeper. "It is too early. Why are you up so early, Uncle Wiggily?"

"I am up early, Nurse Jane, because it is the second day of Spring. Yesterday was the first day. And as soon as I have my breakfast I am going to try out my new red, white and blue suit and call on all my friends. I will soon be down to breakfast."

"I will hurry the breakfast for you, Uncle Wiggily," said Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. "But I think you had better not go out today in your new Spring suit."

"Why not, Nurse Jane?"

"Look out of your window and you will see," said Nurse Jane.

Uncle Wiggily looked out of the window and was much surprised to see that a big snowstorm had come to Woodland where he lived. The air was filled with the white flakes and the ground was covered with white flakes.

"This is most surprising," said Mr. Lohgears. "I thought Spring had come."

"It isn't so very surprising when you stop to think about it," said Nurse Jane. She rattled the dishes down in the kitchen as she got the breakfast. "Often, even when Spring has come, old Winter plays a snowstorm trick like this. But if you are disappointed, Uncle Wiggily, at seeing so much Spring snow, listen how happy your little rabbit children are. Listen to them singing."

Uncle Wiggily jumped back into bed and listened. All through his bungalow he could hear Buster, Bunty, Jingle, Jangle and all the other rabbit boys and girls singing:

"Snow! Snow! Snow! How we love the snow! We're going out and play in it and hop both fast and slow."

"Ha! Ha! Ha!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "If I cannot wear my new red, white and blue Spring suit out in the storm, at least I can watch the children have fun in the snow. They are happy so I must be happy. The snow cannot last forever and, when it melts, I will wear my new suit."

So the rabbit uncle put on his old clothes and hopped down to breakfast which Nurse Jane now had ready for him and the children.

"Do you know what we boys are going to do today, daddy?" asked Buster the rabbit scout.

"I suppose you are going to have fun in the snow," said Uncle Wiggily. "I will come out and watch you. Are you going to do anything special, Buster?"

"Yes, daddy, we are going to roll a big snowball. The snow is soft enough to pack nicely. It will be easy to roll a big snowball after school. Will you help?"

"Yes, I will," promised Uncle Wiggily. And he did. When it was time for school to be out in the afternoon, Uncle Wiggily hopped to where Buster and the other boys were already at work on the big snowball. First they rolled a little ball. But, as they turned the little ball over and over, more snow stuck to it so that it was soon as large as ten toy balloons made into one. Uncle Wiggily helped the boys push the big snowball to the top of the hill.

"We will leave it here until tomorrow," said Buster. And the next day something happened.

I will tell you about it tomorrow if the bobsled doesn't slide downhill all by itself and knock the milk bottle off the pussy cat's front steps.

Friends of Mrs. W. H. Sealey, 1540 Avenue A, Saskatoon, are happy to hear that she has found relief from the pain she has experienced for so many years, as the result of taking the new medicine, SARNAK.

Mrs. Sealey when asked of her experience with SARNAK said:

"After reading of the success other people had had with SARNAK I decided to try a bottle myself. I suffered for many years with a pain around my left rib at the centre corner and running straight through to the spine at the left side. At times this pain felt like a cord tieing me tightly. I have never been able to find out exactly what caused this condition. I was told at different times it was arthritic pain, then pleurisy, a cold and on one occasion that my spine was out two inches. No matter what caused it, the pain was almost unbearable and your medicine, SARNAK, has lessened the pain and I intend to take it a while longer to make sure I am better."

YES, YOU SHOULD TRY SARNAK

. . . as have thousands of others in Canada who suffer from rheumatic, neuritic and arthritic pain, sciatica, backache, lumbago or neuralgia, some minor forms of kidney and liver upsets, bilious dizzy spells, nutritional anemia, lack of vitality and nervousness caused by these symptoms. SARNAK is so effective for aches and pains and general rundown condition that you usually get results within the first few days.

Make up your mind to give SARNAK a chance to help you as it has helped thousands of others who had gone on day after day suffering. Thousands of bottles of SARNAK are sold every day in Canada. Remember, there are no substitutes for SARNAK. Always insist on genuine SARNAK. In some rural sections where there are few drug stores, SARNAK may be difficult to obtain. Don't pay anyone more than $1.35 a bottle. Order by mail from your druggist or mail order house to assure yourself not paying grey market prices. If one druggist does not have SARNAK, try another.
